

THE MAZOMANIE SICKLE.

VOL. XLVII.

MAZOMANIE, DANE COUNTY, WISCONSIN, FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1920

NO. 13

OBITUARY

D. W. Campbell.

Franklinville, N. Y. Chronicle-Journal, April 22, 1920: Dertis White Campbell was born January 17, 1846, in Franklinville. The first thirty years of his life were spent in this community. He was married to Miss Eugenia Smith on December 28, 1869. Eight years later, in 1877, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell moved to Mazomanie, Wisconsin, where they lived until 1908. During the years spent in Wisconsin Mr. Campbell worked at his vocation, pharmacy. His return to this village was for the purpose of taking care of his aged mother and from that time on his home has been in Franklinville, where he always held a place of respect and esteem. For about one and one-half years he has been in failing health. After a severe illness of two weeks, on Monday morning, April 19, 1920, just as the sun was streaming through the windows and the birds were singing their sweetest songs to usher in the day, he passed away quietly.

Mr. Campbell has been a prominent member of the Mazomanie order for many years, joining in 1883 in Franklinville, and transferring his membership later to the Mazomanie, Wis., lodge, where it has since remained.

The community has lost a man of honor and integrity, one who had no place in his life for sham or ostentation. His cheerful greetings and kindly humor will be greatly missed by his neighbors and friends.

He believed in Jesus Christ and quietly put into practice the ethics of the Gospel. In his human aspects a companionship of over half a century has been dissolved, leaving a devoted wife in deep grief.

The funeral service was conducted at his home yesterday by Rev. R. A. Bignestaff, with Masonic ritual at the grave. Several out of town relatives and friends were in attendance.

Harvey Knapp.

The funeral services for Harvey

Knapp, held at his home in Baraboo, Tuesday, April 27, Rev. C. E. Wood officiating. Mr. Knapp, for many years connected with the M. E. church of Wisconsin in various capacities and an old friend of Mr. Knapp, preached the sermon.

H. B. Knapp, born at Little Britain, New York, May 1st, 1830, was one of a family of six children born to William Knapp and Rhoda Bower. William Knapp, his father, traced his lineage through John Knapp to one William Knapp, who came to Connecticut from England in 1630, and he in turn traced his line back to one Roger De Nap who was knighted in England in 1500. Rhoda Bower, the mother of H. B. Knapp, traced her line through John Bower to a family of Bowers who came to New York from Germany early in 1700, the same at that time being spelled Baser.

In the spring of 1850, William and Rhoda Knapp and family moved to the town of Dane, Dane county, Wisconsin, where the mother died June 12 of the same year, of typhoid fever. The father then returned to New York the fall of 1850 but subsequently came to Wisconsin one by one. H. B. Knapp coming as a lad of fourteen and making his home with H. Bower, a farmer and an uncle, in the town of Dane. In this neighborhood H. B. Knapp got his education in the district schools, becoming himself, one of the interesting and inspiring class of pioneer district school teachers, a few years later. Like many other men, the necessity of the pioneer environment brought out the versatility of H. B. Knapp's character, and he was widely known from 1860 to 1875 for the stinging articles that he conducted during the winter seasons in the counties of Columbia, Dane and Sauk. He will be remembered also to many as an excellent teacher who was known as a teacher over southern Wisconsin during the years of 1880 to 1900.

September 20, 1880, H. B. Knapp was married to Elizabeth M. Breerton, also a pioneer school teacher who in 1840 came with her parents, John Breerton and wife, from Ireland, having been driven out of that country by the tyranny of Great Britain which then, as now, terrorized the Emerald Isle.

Of this union of H. B. Knapp and Elizabeth Breerton, six children were born, five of which are still living: Mrs. Laura S. Gorman, Auburn, Washington; Mrs. Mary E. Hill, Prairie du Sac, Wisconsin; George N. Knapp, Billings, Montana; Mrs. Nell Fehlandt, Ripon, Wisconsin; and Ann B. Knapp, Northfield, Minnesota.

H. B. Knapp and family lived on a farm in the town of Dane, where most of the family were born, until 1872, when they moved to Sauk Prairie, Sauk county, Wisconsin, where the mother, Elizabeth Knapp, died August 4, 1875.

Oldest Church in Middleton Struck By Lightning.

Middleton Times-Herald, April 23: The Lutheran St. John's church, better known as the "Mentalist" church, was struck by lightning Wednesday evening at about ten o'clock. Herman Tideman, nearest neighbor to the church, saw it first and gave alarm by telephone. Some of the members, John Deuser and son, Wm. Sander, George Tegner, Alfred Stoltz, and Herman Tideman and son were at hand as soon as they could reach the scene, but the fire which started in the steeple had half the seats. The fire did not, possibly the best sounding bell around this part of the country, fell down and melted into junk, nothing left only the foundation.

The church was the oldest place of worship for the Lutherans in the western part of Dane county. It was built about 1851, and stood there on the hill as a memorial of our old emigrated forefathers. She was the mother church of all the present Lutheran churches in and around Middleton. The loss is great and deeply felt by the large congregation, as there was only $500 insurance on the building.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

The great benefit derived from the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been gratefully acknowledged by many. Mrs. Benjamin F. Blakney, of Decatur, Ill., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is by far the best medicine for colds and coughs we have ever used in my family. I gave it to my children when small for colds and have taken it myself."—Advertisement.

Rev. E. F. Scherbel Retires from the Charge of Four Churches.

Rev. E. F. Scherbel, for thirty-five years pastor of the German Lutheran churches in the village and town of Middleton, and in Berry, Cross Plains, Marxville, Mud Lake, and Fitchburg, from henceforth will have charge of the churches at Marxville, Roxbury, Cross Plains and Berry, only. Mr. Scherbel's successor as pastor of the churches over which he will no longer have charge is Rev. C. Stulenbold, who, before coming to Middleton, was pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church at Jefferson. He, as well as his predecessor, will preach both in German and English.

Health Week in The High School.

"Health above all" is the slogan of the Wisconsin state board of health. In order that the people of Wisconsin could better understand the full meaning of these few words, there was designated and set aside one week in which to impress upon the minds of the people the value of good health. This week was called "Health Week."

In all of the schools of Wisconsin, the week was observed on a more or less large scale, and the work accomplished by our school was of no small consequence.

In our school, the week opened with the hearing of a few "Health songs." Throughout the week articles were prepared by different pupils, emphasizing the "Care of the hands," "What food a person should eat," "The different kinds of baths to take" and "The effect of work and play upon the body."

In between the reading of these articles, Dr. Koster talked on "The health of the human body," Dr. Grinstead spoke on "The work of the state board of health," and Dr. Schell gave a talk concerning the care of the teeth. Also, Dr. Bowen, of the state board of health, lectured on "Hygiene."

And to make a fitting conclusion to the week's work, a short program was presented Friday afternoon. Every grade of the schools took part in these exercises which demonstrated the different ways in which a person attempts to keep healthy. From outside of school the Boy Scouts prepared a short demonstration, involving the principles of health.

Summed up, the week's crusade of good health was well presented, and there is no reason whatever, for our not living up to this little slogan—"Health above all."

How is Your Complexion?

A woman should grow more beautiful as she grows older and she will with due regard to baths, diet and exercise, and by keeping her liver and bowels in good working order. If you are haggard and yellow, your eyes losing their lustre and whiter becoming yellowish, your flesh flabby, it may be due to indigestion or to a sluggish liver. They Are Your Neighbors

These folks are your neighbors. They work for the telephone company. They are regular people, just like you, your friends and family.

They eat food, wear clothes, live in houses, talk, laugh, sing, cry, get peevish (and get over it), enjoy the movies and home-made pies, just like you.

These folks are trying hard to give you the best telephone service in the world. They take pride in their work and in their company; but sometimes, when they hear you complaining about paying a few dollars a year for telephone service, they become worried and wonder how they are going to make ends meet—for they know their wages depend on what you pay for your telephone.

Sometimes some of you forget that the telephone company is made up of folks who are just like you.

The more loyal support you give the telephone the better service it can give you.

OBITUARY

Miss Edna Koenig.

Edna Dorothea Koenig was born on July 3, 1861, in Mazomanie, Wis., and passed away at the home of her parents in this village on Wednesday, April 21, 1920, at five o'clock in the afternoon, aged twenty-eight years, nine months, and eighteen days. She leaves to mourn her death, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koenig, five sisters and one brother: Mrs. Elizabeth Lamberty and Mrs. Thos. Gross, of Mazomanie, Mrs. Frank Goodling, Walter Koenig, Mrs. Harry Goodling, and Mrs. Irvin Wood, of Madison. Three months ago a sister, Mrs. Dr. E. C. Zellmer, passed away at Madison. Just before passing Miss Edna constantly said, "I am ready to go, why don't we go?" The funeral was held from the home, Saturday afternoon, April 24. Chaplain F. J. Thomas spoke from the text, Mark 2:16, "Arise ye and depart, for this is not your rest." The singing was by Mrs. F. J. Thomas and daughter Mabel. The interment was in the Mazomanie cemetery.

Four of the sisters and the brother were present at the funeral, as were also Mrs. Walter Koenig and Dr. E. C. Zellmer, of Madison. The pall bearers were Math. Speich, Chas. Davies, Wm. W. Ischenki, Paul Welch, Harry Traeger, Raymond Gross.

Prof. Gotham to Sturgeon Bay.

Prof. E. C. Gotham, who has successfully conducted the schools here for the past four years, has accepted the position as superintendent at Sturgeon Bay, at a substantial salary increase. J. W. Wiseman, agricultural teacher, goes to Washburn, also at an increased salary, and there will be other changes in the staff of teachers for the coming year.

In returning the contracts, Mr. Gotham addressed the following note to the board:

April 21, 1920.
Board of Education—
Your note of the 17th instant enclosing contracts for the ensuing year is before me. I thank you for the confidence shown by this fifth election, and for many reasons would be very happy to accept. The educational work lying before the school authorities here for the next few years is unusually large and interesting, and I would enjoy being connected with it.

The people of Mazomanie have become very dear to both Mrs. Gotham and myself during our stay here, and we are both very loath to leave so agreeable a community. The students of the high school have become almost as near to me as are the members of my own family and I grieve at separating myself from them. But there are other considerations that make my resignation at this time necessary.

E. C. Gotham.

Preferred Capital Stock--Par value of Shares $100 each

DIVIDENDS OF $1.75 PER SHARE PAID QUARTERLY ON THE 20th DAY OF FEBRUARY, MAY, AUGUST AND NOVEMBER OF EACH YEAR, BEING AT THE RATE OF $7.00 PER SHARE PER ANNUM.

ORGANIZATION

The Wisconsin River Power Company was organized under the laws of Wisconsin in 1906, and is now furnishing electrical energy to a large portion of Southern Wisconsin for both light and power requirements.

BUSINESS

The Company has constantly progressed in the development of its business as is illustrated in its gross earnings and the number of kilowatt hours delivered as shown below:

	K.W.H. Generated	Gross Earnings
Year ending June 30, 1917,	67,457,730	$285,951.38
Year ending June 30, 1918,	77,846,119	334,503.62
Year ending June 30, 1919,	81,711,367	416,533.72

Under present conditions, which will evidently continue for some time to come, and because of the high price of coal, the Company has requests for more energy than it is possible to generate, indicating that further substantial growth is to be expected as rapidly as it is desirable to install additional equipment. New contracts are taken only on a long term basis to protect the Company.

PROPERTY AND TERRITORY SERVED

The Wisconsin River Power Company serves through its steel tower, high tension, transmission lines a substantial proportion of the electrical energy required in the operation of the street railways in and around Milwaukee and the entire electric light and power requirements in the City of Madison, Wisconsin. In addition, it supplies the entire energy requirements of 12 communities in the vicinity of its plant at Prairie du Sac and has now under construction an additional 66,000 volt, steel tower transmission line to serve the Samson Tractor Company development at Janesville and to supply the great additional energy which will be needed in Janesville.

The Company owns, including the line practically completed to Janesville, Wisconsin, over one hundred miles of the highest type of steel double circuit 66,000 volt high tension transmission lines.

Its plant at Prairie du Sac comprises seven modern water wheel units of high efficiency, having a total energy capacity of over 30,000 horse power and turning out approximately 100,000,000 kilowatt hours annually. The steam plant there has been saving through the operation of this water power, of at least 200,000 tons of coal per annum.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

Up to the present time, in developing this important system, practically all of the funds have been secured from outside investors, and the public in the territory served has had no opportunity to join in the development of what is essentially a home industry.

The Wisconsin River Power Company has developed the properties owned and controlled by it in the belief that such properties are primarily a home industry in the respective communities of the territory served; and that this development is beneficial to the public. The Company, therefore, feels that an opportunity should be given to the investors in the communities it serves and the territory in which it does business to share in the ownership of the Company's securities.

To take care of the additional demands for service and to further develop the property to the consequent advantage of the territory in which the Company's operations are conducted, it is desirable to raise additional funds; the Company, therefore, is offering for subscription, $500,000 par value of its Preferred Stock

The following is a summary of the principal features of this high-grade investment stock:

- (1) Issued by an old, established property with a large, well-demonstrated and increasing earning capacity.
- (2) Stock issued as fully paid and with the express covenant of Company that it shall not be subject to assessment for any purpose.
- (3) Exempt from all taxation in Wisconsin, and the income derived therefrom by individuals not subject to the normal Federal income tax.
- (4) The gross earnings have shown a steady growth during the entire history of the Company.

SIXTEEN YEARS SEARCH ENDED.

Young Says Tangle Did the Work When Everything Else Had Failed.

When I found Tangle, my search of sixteen years for a medicine or treatment that would overcome my trouble was ended," said James Young, a well known carpenter who lives at 407 Crane street, Milwaukee, Wis., the other day.

"I spent a small fortune for medicine and other treatments during that time," continued Mr. Young, "and for all the good it did me I might as well have thrown the money in the streets. I had a bad case of stomach trouble, and everything I ate would sour and I would be so badly swollen from gas afterwards that I would be perfectly unbearable. Sometimes this gas would rise up into my chest and cause my heart to palpitate something awful, and I would have the worst sort of smothering spells. I was badly constipated all the time, and I honestly believe I had the worst spells of headaches a human ever had. I would frequently roll and toss all night long and not sleep a wink, and when morning came I was so tired and weak I could hardly get out of bed and dress myself. I also suffered from biliousness, and finally got so weak and run down that I lost lots of time from my work, and in fact, I had to spend a good portion of my time in bed."

"Then I heard about Tangle, and thought I would give it a trial. Well, sir, I have only been taking this medicine a short time, but it's the honest truth, I have improved so much that I can get out and do as much work in a day now as I could in a week before I began taking it. Why, it is simply wonderful the way Tangle has overcome all my trouble after everything else I tried had failed to even give me temporary relief. I have gained a good deal in weight, and can now get up and go about coming back to me right along. I have a fine appetite and can eat just anything I want without suffering afterwards. In fact, my stomach seems to be in first-class condition now. I no longer am constipated, and never have a headache any more. I don't have to lie in bed and toss at night now, but when I hit the bed I just stretch out and go to sleep and am dead to the world until the time to get up in the morning. I have never seen or heard of anything to equal Tangle, and I'll tell the world that it did the work for me after everything else I tried had failed."

TANGLE is sold in Mazomanie by Geo. A. Shields; in Mt. Horeb by C. C. Robertson; and in Sun Prairie by W.

How Diphtheria is Contracted.

One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had been left in the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. If your child has a cold when diphtheria is prevalent you should take him out of school and keep him off the street until fully recovered, as there is a hundred times more danger of his taking diphtheria when he has a cold. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted.—Adv.

CENTRAL PRIZE PLAY—"KINDLING THE HEARTH FIRE," AT THE COMMUNITY CENTER, FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 7th.

The annual class play of the Mazomanie High School will be presented at the Community Center, on Friday evening, May 7th, 1920. The play selected this year is "Kindling the Hearth Fire," a drama in three acts. This is a rural play, and may be regarded as a companion to "Back to the Farm" presented here three years ago. It is written and put out by the Agricultural and Home Economics Department of the University of Minnesota. The following brief synopsis may assist the public to an understanding of the production:

SYNOPSIS:

Mr. and Mrs. Field are carrying on their farm under the old plan of drudgery, poor management and false economy. Mr. Field yields to the necessity and employs Pete and Oaf to assist him with the haying, but no provision is made to lighten the burden of these men. Mrs. Field accepts her lot and labors on guided by what has always been, but her daughter Doris becomes "cold and tired" of life on the farm and, urged on by letters from her friend Ida Johnson, who has gone to the city to work in a department store where she doesn't have to "soil her hands," decides to "get out and see the world" to "try her wings."

Dave Dalton, who "owns his own farm," tries to persuade her not to go and offers her his hand in marriage, but she is determined "Never to marry a farmer." Doris goes to the city where, under the guidance of Ida, she is introduced to the "big life." Fortunately, she comes under the influence of Miss Brooks, visiting housekeeper for the Welfare League, who lives at the same boarding house, operated by Mrs. Ryan, or "The 'weel' guy." Mr. Bond, goes a little too far to suit Doris, though, in the words of Mrs. Ryan, "If I must say it, you're a fool, Miss Field."

Mr. Hartwell, who has helped himself through College by selling books on modern methods in Agriculture, has secured the promise of Miss Brooks to assist him in "Kindling a new hearth fire."

At Miss Brooks' suggestion, Doris invites her to spend the vacation at the Field home, which, under her influence, is transformed into a modern home. Dave returns and Doris decides that she will never marry anyone but a farmer—"One of Nature's Noblemen." Not suspected all along that Dave was her beau.

Mrs. Stringer, the "borrowing neighbor," always gets out of provisions waiting for her but to arrive from Montgomery Ward's. She nearly "talks an arm off" the hired men with her "I see, see I." Not only does Ida reform under proper influences, but even Mrs. Ryan improves and becomes the housekeeper at the Field home, but promises to leave with Oaf.

•The play is clean and wholesome and suggestive of the better life throughout.
