A MANAGER WANTED

The Moorman Mfg. Co. has an opening for a good man as Sales Manager for this territory.

We manufacture mineral feeds sold direct to stockmen. It is probably needless to state to any man familiar with farm practices that minerals are now in great demand. All of the experiment stations in the stock raising belt are urging the use of mineral feeds.

This position should make a very special appeal to high-grade salesmen. Sales managing experience is not necessary and neither is sales experience necessary. If you have had farm experience and feel that you are a real hustler and a success at your present work, you should make your application for our full consideration.

If selected, you will be given a large amount of field and factory training for sales and sales management work. If you feel that your success and ability justifies you in believing that you can successfully handle this proposition, you may at once write the Divisional Manager, giving age, stating your farm and other experiences for the last ten years.
