OBITUARY

Ernest Kahl

After a brief illness of about three weeks, death claimed one of our young neighbors in the town of Berry. Ernest Kahl died Thursday, August 19, 1926, at the Methodist hospital in Madison from blood poison. He was born May 6, 1880, at Berry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Kahl (nee Eva Schulte), where he lived all his life. He was baptized August 21, 1902, and confirmed Sunday after Easter, 1906. He soon took up farming with a neighbor for several years and showed himself a trustworthy man and laborer. April 25, 1919, he married Miss Linda Muehlen, of the town of Maunabo, rented the farm of his employer for a couple of years, until he bought himself a farm, the homestead of his grandparents. As an industrious, skillful and economical farmer he soon showed success in his calling through his energy. Several weeks ago his horse became a little lame and this turned into blood poison, which made it necessary to take him to the hospital for better medical care. Notwithstanding the best of nursing and care of his devoted wife and sister during his sickness, at last death came as a friend and relieved the great sufferer from his pain. On Saturday, August 21, his remains were laid to rest at the Lutheran St. Johns cemetery. Rev. R. E. Scherler, who had baptized, confirmed, and married him, spoke the last words over his grave. He leaves to mourn his death a beloved wife and two little sons, a father, grandfather, parents, five brothers, Ferdinand, Herman, Robert, Gustav, and Emil Kahl; two sisters, Mrs. H. Schacht, of Black Earth, Miss Ella at home, and many other relatives and friends.

New Long Distance Telephone Schedule

Important changes involving a general readjustment in long distance rates for calls to points outside the state the nation or more distant from the calling center and to the evening and night period during which the reduced rates apply, are announced by the Wisconsin Telephone Company. The changes are effective October 1. They are made for the benefit of users of long distance service and to eliminate service difficulties which the present schedule has brought about.

The net result of the readjustment in rates will be a saving to the telephone users of the country of approximately three million dollars a year. To points 100 or more miles distant and located outside of Wisconsin the rates are substantially reduced. The greater the distance, the greater the reduction. For example: from Madison to San Francisco the basic station-to-station rate will be $7.50 instead of $11.25; from Eau Claire to Chicago $1.20 instead of $1.50; from Racine to Kansas City, $2.20 instead of $2.50; from Green Bay to Cleveland, $2.50 instead of $3.00; and from Janesville to Detroit, $1.50 instead of $2.00. Long distance cables, carrier systems, vacuum tube repeaters, loading coils and other improved devices and methods, resulting from continuous scientific research and development applied to the telephone industry, have effected economies on the longer circuits, and have a share in making these reductions possible. A few rates for distances between 24 and 110 miles will be adjusted to make the schedule consistent throughout, but in these cases the increase of the basic station-to-station rate will be only five cents.

One of the interesting changes from the public's viewpoint is that by which one and a half hours have been added to the reduced rate period. Reduced rates on station-to-station calls for points beyond the border of the state will begin at 7 p. m. instead of 5:30 p. m. as formerly. Between 7 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. the discount will be approximately 25 per cent. of the day station-to-station rates, and from 8:30 p. m. to 4:30 a. m. about 30 per cent. of the day rates. These discounts will apply where the day station-to-station rate is 40 cents or more, with a minimum reduced rate of 25 cents. Because of the unsatisfactory service conditions which it brought about, the existing midnight discount is discontinued.

Another change that will be welcomed is the extension of the principle of reversing charges to include station-to-station calls for points outside of Wisconsin—whether placed during the day, evening or night—where the rate is 25 cents or more. Detailed announcements of the new long distance rates and practices are obtainable at the local business office of the Wisconsin Telephone Company. Pending formal authorization by the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin, long distance telephone rating and service between points within the state will remain unchanged.

A damage suit for $2,000 has been filed with the Dane county circuit court clerk by August Flury against Leslie Blizard for injuries received by Flury December 13, 1925, when he is alleged to have been run over by the auto driven by Mr. Blizard while he was riding a bicycle on the Madison-Wisconsin highway. Flury charges that Blizard forced his bicycle of the road, then ran over him, and that the auto driver also left his car, smashed Flury in the head, and jumped his head on the ground.

This great highway leads to market!

JUST as houses are located on the streets they face, so this community is definitely located on the Milwaukee. All the outside world knows the address, because this railway is the safe open road to the markets of the world.

Its trains bring you with unfailing regularity the things you need from other cities, other states, other nations even. They take away the fruits of your labor—your grain, your produce, your livestock; your dairy products. No matter where your market is, the railway finds it. No matter what you need from the outside world, the railway brings it to you.

There are 50,000 employees of the Milwaukee alone whose brains, and labor, and faithfulness to duty guarantee that the products of your toil will reach their destination in safety. Sudden floods may put an end to river traffic; severe storms may bottle great ships in their harbors; but the iron horse goes on forever, never stopped for more than a few hours in the tremendous task of keeping communication open.

The railway grew with the growth of the nation. It continues to grow with the growth of the communities it serves. And as it grows it improves to meet every demand of progress—because the railway must always lead in order to meet the tremendous increasing needs of transportation.

For 75 years the Milwaukee has shared notably in the development of the West. For 75 years the co-operation of farmers and settlers has helped to make it one of the great railway systems of all the world.

For the opening voluntary a beautiful violin, selection was played by Miss Marie Hayward, accompanied by Miss Lorna Gillette. Miss Hayward is from Indianapolis, Ind., and is a violinist of rare merit. Master Preston Grindler, of the St. James Episcopal church, choir, Milwaukee, sang "Widder of the Heavenly King" and "The Lord is My Light," by Carlo Roma. Master Grindler has a quite exceptional boy-soprano voice and sings with exquisite expression. There will be no more opportunity to hear him this Sunday in the two special numbers that he will render. Everyone is cordially welcome. Pastor.

Saturday afternoon, while the party composed of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Maters of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Clauson, of Hartford, and Henry Lappley, of this place, were on their return trip from Southfield, Minn., in the former's car, they attempted to pass a car which had stopped on the road near a culvert, about five miles south of Golden, Wis. The space between the two cars, to avoid striking a man standing in the road and the rear wheel of their car struck the high concrete railing of the culvert, stopping the car short. The passengers were thrown forward violently, all were more or less injured, and the car was badly wrecked. Mr. Lappley received a sprained wrist and ankle and was cut on the head. His daughter, Mrs. Celia Clauson, lost the little finger of her left hand, the hand being caught between the body of the car and the railing of the culvert, and was otherwise bruised. Another daughter, Mrs. Irene Maters, received an injury to one knee, and bruises. Mr. Maters was cut about the head. Mr. Clauson escaped with a general shaking up. The party was driven back to Golden, where their injuries were attended to. From there they came to train. Mr. and Mrs. Clauson going to Hartford, Mr. Lappley, Mr. and Mrs. Maters arriving here Sunday noon. The wrecked car was left at Golden.

Barefoot Days

From a window of my study
I can see four little men
Playing in a pool of water.
And my heart cries out again
For the serious days of childhood—
For the good old barefoot days,
When a boy assumes dominion
Over all that he surveys.

Barefoot days, when laws and customs
And conventions are unknown;
Barefoot days, when every fellow
Has a program all his own!
Simple are the joys and pleasures
That our little ones demand,
But how dearly they would prize them
Could they only understand!

There's a glorious abandon
In whatever children do—
Every happy moment offers
Something wonderful and new.
Yet, it seems we all must travel
Manhood's formal, vexing ways
To appreciate the freedom
And the fun of barefoot days.

their death at one o'clock Friday morning on Lakeview street in South Madison when the car in which they were riding stalled on the railroad tracks of the North-Western road, directly in the path of a speeding Madison bound train.
