Your Duty is Done.

What I must do, is all that concerns me, not what the people think. This rule, equally arduous in actual and in intellectual life, may serve for the whole distinction between greatness and meanness. It is the harder because we will always find those who think we know what is our duty. It is easy to live after the world's eye, but the chief man is one who lives after the world's eye, but the chief man is one who lives after the world's eye, but the chief man is one who lives after the world's eye.

Her First Love Affair.

I experienced my first love affair when I was thirteen. I had a bicycle, on which I went for a ride with a neighbor boy. He is now quite a liking to me. So I called on me the next Sunday evening. I saw him coming, and stopped behind the door, and when he was out, but would be back after a while. He leaned up against the door. I was behind and could hear him waiting for me to come. I stood it as long as I could, then stepped out from behind the door and said, "He never called again."—Chicago Journal.

The moving pictures of The Life of Christ, which was to be shown at the Methodist church this (Friday) evening will not be shown, owing to a mistake in the Chicago office. Since he was taken from the pastorate of Tremaine church, Madison, to give his entire time to this special work, Rev. Erwin has been holding meetings in the Madison district. In every place which he has visited with his heart warming messages and up-to-date methods of church work, there has been victory. Come out and let him help you find your place in the work of building the Kingdom of Christ in the world.

One hundred and sixteen at Sunday school last Sunday. Make it 125 next Sunday. Why not? Find someone not going elsewhere to Sunday school and bring him or her with you. Be a worker.—Rev. W. P. Burrows, Pastor.

BIRDS.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bennett.

I told that I was fairly safe, Tracked up among these hills, From everything but Income tax, And 'course, the grocery bills— But it 'haint one bit safer here— Than livin' in New York!

Not even from the storks!

I noticed 'long about last spring The hawks were awful thick— It wouldn't been no awful job To hit 'em with a stick. They got so bold they'd almost come And settle on yer fork— And now I know that one of them Iurn birds was just a stork!

They're funny birds, that's all I say, They don't care where they light. They'll wake a feller up—bl-gosh! Just any time o' night. They'll make a feller hop around Like water does a cork— Just give me any other bird But, keep yer darned old stork!

Radio Notes.

Great Lakes Naval Training Station is making radiophone installation, and will broadcast weather reports at 11 a. m. and 10:30 p. m.

Air service uses radio to recruit. An appeal for 200 men has been broadcast through the radiophone station at the army air service at Garden City, Long Island.

The "Radio Car" made its appearance in Madison last week. Equipped with complete receiving apparatus and loud speaker it broadcasted the concert sent out from the university as it drove about the city.

Earl Bauer, of Madison, visited members of the Radio Association the past week. During his stay an all night watch was kept from 10:00 p. m. Saturday, to 5:00 a. m. Sunday, to copy calls of radio telegraph stations heard during that time. Griffith, Bauer, and Beckman worked in shifts. Over 60 calls were copied, and many others were too faint to be read.

Radio—Our next great step forward! It's a crane, it is the greatest crane that the world has ever seen. But it is more—it brings education, happiness and democracy with it. "Radio will very soon be in the homes of both rich and poor everywhere."—O. L. Young, chairman of board of directors of the Radio Corporation of America. "It will be the greatest potential educator and spreader of culture that has ever been dreamed of."—Columbia Weekly.

Now Has Adopted Kitten.

A strange case of maternal devotion is reported by an Ontario farmer who has a son with a litter that has adopted a half-grown kitten and permits it to nurse with her babies and to sleep with them. The kitten has been a member of the family of pigs for several days and will no longer touch cow's milk when offered it. At night the kitten curls up at the sow's side.

Ever Try This One?

A Frenchman has suggested that with a little training the soldier may be amiable to a certain degree. ## "The Hiking Parson."

The Cincinnati, Ohio, Morning Tribune some time ago carried a long item concerning the activities of a local Methodist pastor who believed in a social and recreational program as well as a definite evangelistic work, and when he had no access to gymnasium equipment for athletic work he turned to the open air program. The immediate cause of the daily's news item was a challenge that the pastor, James Erwin, of the Loveland church, had made to the young people to go on a seven-mile hike to the country for a picnic lunch and games. Forty-five responded. Because of his success in evangelistic work as a pastor, Mr. Erwin has been engaged by the department of evangelism to spend all of his time assisting the pastors in the all year round program of constructive evangelism which includes young people.

Rev. J. C. Erwin.

pleas work, Sunday school work, social and recreational activities as well as winning folks to become Christians. During the heavy snow season of January, Evangelist Erwin led thirty-six young people of Kilbourn on a three-mile hike to the country, where a great bonfire was built in a clearing on a spot cleared of snow by the wood choppers during the day. Of course they had supper there, and then three large bales appeared to transport the crowd back to the church in time for the evening song service and sermon. Half a hundred were converted during the Kilbourn meetings.

Rev. Erwin opens a three weeks' series of meetings in the Mazomanie Methodist church next Sunday morning. Come, and bring your friends. W. P. B.

Why tonic value is greater in this yeast

(Yeast Foam Tablets are made entirely of pure whole yeast—the richest source of the tissue-building vitamin)

The amazing tonic properties of yeast, and its consequent popularity everywhere, have offered opportunities which patent medicine makers and others have been quick to capitalize.

The resulting flood of so-called vitamin preparations reveals many products which contain precious little yeast and insignificant quantities of vitamin.

Remember these facts

It is of utmost importance to you to remember that Yeast Foam Tablets are made entirely of pure whole yeast—that their vitamin content is proved by actual test to be both high and uniform—that they are endorsed by leading medical scientists—and that they are made by yeast experts, the world's largest manufacturers of dry yeast.

By virtue of these facts you are definitely assured that Yeast Foam Tablets have an exceedingly high tonic value—and that is what you really want. You may take them with the positive knowledge that they will aid assimilation, promote growth and the formation of firm, healthy tissue, and that through these processes you will experience an energizing and generally upbuilding effect.

Take Yeast Foam Tablets for these conditions

Yeast Foam Tablets, which are so rich in the tonic and tissue-forming vitamin, are recommended for loss of appetite; indigestion; lack of physical strength and energy; anaemia; skin disorders; nervous troubles and many forms of vitamin deficiency and general ill health known as "run down" conditions.

The name, Yeast Foam Tablets, is your protection. It is your guarantee of purity and known vitamin potency. Ask for this yeast by its full name. There is nothing just the same or "just as good." Get a bottle from your druggist today.

MODERN DAY MIRACLES

Famous Scientists Declare that Tremendous Advancements of the Future Will Come From the Chemical Laboratory.

(Told in Eight Sketches)
By JOHN RAYMOND

No. VIII LOOKING FORWARD

Marked, after passing through the stone age, the bronze age and the varying phases of civilization now faces the dawn of a new era. Thomas Edison, in a recent interview, declared that we have entered into the Age of Chemistry and the remarkable achievements of laboratory workers serve to substantiate this statement.

It is difficult to prophesy how great will be the contribution of chemists to our present civilization, but so much has been accomplished and so great is the expectancy that it is evident why thoughtful men are insisting that the public should be educated to a full knowledge of the significance of the science of its national life. The synthetic chemist has been able to produce practically all necessary materials and thousands of artificial substances.

Synthetic foods and substances so deadly as to make war impossible may be expected from the researchers.

Edwin E. Slosson, in his splendid book, "Creative Chemistry," quotes one of the greatest French chemists, Berthelot, as follows:

"The problem of food is a chemical problem. The day will come when each person will carry for his nourishment his little nitrogenous, his pat of fatty butter, his package of starch or sugar, his vial of aromatic spices, suited to his personal taste; all manufactured economically and in unlimited quantities; all independent of irregular seasons; all free from pathogenic microbes, the origin of epidemics and the enemies of human life. On that day chemistry will have accomplished world-wide revolution on that cannot be (Released by the Institute of American Business, New York) discovered that can be compressed into tablets and pills. Already, we know something of what the effect of these things will be. Scatter the contents of a few small boxes on the ground and a dog will be running in within its area. Broad belts of territory may be poisoned for weeks at a time by a few drops of gas poured out here and there. A drop of gas will be enough to fill a ship's hold with gas which will bring instant death to the pilot will be launched. The air will be filled with ambushes and snares. On land air-tight gas tanks will be used from the industry detecting hidden gases and deluging the ground with an antitoxic liquid."

Organic chemical factories, dy plants and others, are truly arsenals in disguise. The will of man can presently convert these powerful factories, where research is constantly going on, into gigantic bulwarks of national defense because the deadly instruments of war they are able to produce.
