Lenine Is Dead

MOSCOW—Nicolai Lenine, premier of Soviet Russia, is dead. The end came at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon but the death was not announced for some time afterward. Lenine's death occurred at his country villa near Moscow.

Free Eye Clinic

I wish to announce that I have arranged with the Author of The LaGrange System of Refraction to give a post-graduate course of instruction in Optics.

Dr. B. F. McNeil, representing this System, will be at my office Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 28, 29, and 30 and for the purpose of demonstrating this method will examine and advise free of charge all eye cases presenting themselves on any of the above named dates.

The LaGrange Clinics are a National Institution and I earnestly advise all who have trouble with their eyes, whether the trouble is in seeing or eye-strain, especially headaches, to avail themselves of the opportunity to consult this Specialist. Children to be accompanied by parents.

Evening hours, 7 to 9.

Yours truly,

Dr. F. L. Griswold.

OBITUARY

Mrs. R. M. Halsey

Mrs. Helen Halsey was born at Lancaster, Wis., August 29, 1845, and died at her home in Mazomanie, January 18, 1924. When she was about ten years of age her family moved to Prairie du Chien. Here on January 3, 1860, she was united in marriage to Robert M. Halsey, and continued to reside there until Mr. Halsey's death in 1880. The family then moved to Madison, Wis., and remained there while the son and daughter attended the University of Wisconsin, and since that time has made her home with her son, Robert I. Halsey, at this place.

Mrs. Halsey was one whose character was above reproach and who was held in high esteem by the community. Long years of life did not destroy her patient, considerate and happy disposition, neither her faith and trust in God.

Two children having died in infancy, she leaves to mourn her death one daughter, Mrs. F. G. Kraege, of Madison, Wis., one son, Robert Irving, of Mazomanie, four grand children and two sisters, Mrs. E. M. Wright, of Prairie du Chien, Mrs. C. C. Dimock, of Chicago, and many warm friends.

The funeral services were held at the home, Sunday, January 20, conducted by Rev. Geo. V. E. Shepard. Interment was made in the family burial lot at Prairie du Chien, Monday, January 21.

Among those present at the funeral were, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dimock and daughter, of Chicago; Mrs. E. M. Wright, of Prairie du Chien; Mrs. F. G. Kraege and children, Halsey, Carl, Helen and Myrtle, of Madison. Mrs. Halsey was a charter member of O. E. S. at Prairie du Chien, also of the D. A. R., a delegation of the latter meeting the body at the depot and escorting it to its final resting place.

Card of Thanks

To the many friends and neighbors who by their kindly acts and words of sympathy helped to lessen the sorrow caused by the death of our dear mother and sister, we return our sincere thanks.

Robert I. Halsey,
Laura Halsey Kraege,
Mrs. E. M. Wright,
Mrs. C. C. Dimock.

PLEASANT PARTY

Miss Minnie Loeth, of Sauk City, is visiting friends in this vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hodgson entertained the Sewing Club Friday evening.

Miss Laura Brunner, of Cross Plains, is visiting at the Frank Brunner home.

Miss Grace Zwettler, of Pine Bluff, is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Dan Lynch.

Mrs. Vernon Booth and Miss Minnie Loeth visited the Booth School Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Booth and family visited with the Thomas Zwettler family Sunday evening.

Mrs. John Booth was hostess at a card party Saturday evening. High honors were won by Mrs. Grant Perkins and Lyle Sutcliffe.

Miss Vera Gert has started suit against School District No. 8, Town of Verona, in the Circuit Court.

Some 72 Wisconsin students attended summer army training camp last summer.

How Better Than Pills?

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

Snow Adds to the Problem Of Providing Telephone Service

After a deep snow, telephone service is often taxed to the utmost. At such times, people have difficulty in getting about town and more than ever rely upon the telephone.

Furthermore, when transportation is more or less tied up after a snow, it is difficult for the telephone operators to get to work promptly.

And heavy snow, if accompanied by wind, frequently tears down poles and wires, shutting off both local and long distance telephone service.

Uniformly satisfactory telephone service is our constant aim, but occasionally conditions arise which are temporarily beyond all human control. At such a time we especially appreciate the patience of our patrons until the situation can be met.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES

SPRING GREEN.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jorgensen have moved to the village from Wyoming.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thoring, West Spring Green, January 18, 1924, a daughter.

Mrs. Anton Schlosser returned home from Madison, Tuesday, Mrs. Schlosser is rapidly recuperating from her recent operation.

Dorothy M. Beach, twelve years old, of Plain, was recently awarded first prize in a national contest for the best Christmas poem, conducted by Universal Current Topics, published at Cincinnati, Ohio.

While suffering torture from abscessed teeth last Friday, Maurice Barnard took an overdose of a proprietary medicine for relief of pain and was in a serious condition for a couple of days. The dose is two tablets and Maurice figured that if two would help, more ought to be better, so he took seven.—Home News.

PRAIRIE DU SAC.—Charles Hochmuth, the new shoe repairer at the Schreiber shoe store has added a new machine to his outfit.

The dance and card party held at the St. Aloysius schoolhouse, in Sauk City, Monday evening was a big success and netted about $300. The proceeds go into the school fund.

Mrs. Thompson, a sister of Orin McGilvra, and an aunt of Earl McGilvra, and the remains will be brought to Baraboo where burial will be made Saturday.

The following officers of the West Point Sunday School were elected for the coming year: Supl., L. L. Attie; Asst. Supl., Mrs. Minnie Christler; Sec., Miss Marguerite Lee; Treas., Mrs. Andrew Giesler.

Word has been received here of the death of John Graf, Sr., at Columbus, Neb. Mr. Graf died January 6, of Paul Springer in the town of Buena Vista. They found there Martin Brennenman and Vida Ewers occupying the same room and when the house was reached they were both in bed clothing.—Democrat.

The Bach Concert

Mr. Bach played to an enthusiastic audience which filled St. Luke's Guild Hall last Friday evening. His program consisted of classical numbers from many of the masters. They were rendered with much skill, and beauty of tone, combined with a sincerity which was a mark of all of Mr. Bach's work. He was ably accompanied by Mrs. W. A. Horn, of Prairie du Sac.

The following comments will prove of interest to Mr. Bach's friends: I had the pleasure of attending the violin recital given by Marcus Bach. I was particularly pleased with the well chosen program. Mr. Bach is a very promising young violinist. He has a winning personality in addition to his splendid musical training. He gave us beautiful classical selections, which were most enjoyable.

Outside the interpretation of good music, Marcus Bach also deserves great credit on these points: he is a young man, he is self-made, and he showed great ability to memorize.

First Phones

In 1878 Mary Beatrice Kennedy became the first telephone exchange operator in New York City. She is still plugging a switchboard at the College of St. Elizabeth at Convent Station, N. Y. J.

Now, if you think human nature has changed much, hark to Mary's memories of old times.

Before Mary took her job in 1878, "Central" was always a boy.

"I got my job," she recalls, "because the company was tired of hiring its swearing boy operators. Subscribers used to come down to the telephone office to fight the operator who had sworn at them."

Phone users don't do that these days, but some of them occasionally weaken and start figuring how far the "ip" to "Central."

In the old days, Mary recalls, people didn't use telephone numbers. They just cranked at the box, took down the greaser and asked for Smith's drug store or Brown's grocery. And people must have been impatient as now, for Central cut an awful of abuse if there was delay in getting the desired party.

Mary says folks used to ring Central and ask the price of eggs and what kind of weather was predicted for tomorrow. The telephone companies are still toiling to break people of the habit of asking Central what time it is, where's the fire, did O'Grady's Gorilla knock out Batting Snootzer, or who won the ball game.

Mary worked short hours, for those times—only from 8 in the morning until 6 at night. She had a long climb six flights of stairs to get to her switchboard. Who invented the elevator that ended this toil? Don't all answer at once.

Mrs. Lorenz Wolf

Ether Selter was born in Rostov, Wisconsin, December 30, 1854, was married to Lorenz Wolf, August 26, 1878, and died at her home in Mazomanie, Wis., January 21, 1924, after a long and painful illness. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her departure six children, Lawrence Wolf, of Charles City, Iowa, John Wolf, of Spring Valley, Wis., Mrs. P. James Deane, of New Bedford, Mass., Mrs. A. M. Mulhern, of Dalton, Wis., Mrs. John Nevaugh and Frank Wolf, of Mazomanie, also two sisters, Mrs. Mary Jordan, of Sauk City, Wis., Mrs. Henry Plaber, of Spirit Lake, Iowa, and a brother, A. J. Selter, of Madison, all of whom were present at the funeral. Fourteen grandchildren, and many relatives and friends also mourn her death.

Other relatives attending the funeral from out of town were E. F. Jordan, John Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Jordan, Carl Jordan and Miss Ethel Selter, of Madison, Wis.; Mrs. John Williams and Anton Jordan, of Sauk City, Wis.; Mrs. Lawrence Wolf, of Charles City, Iowa; Mrs. Charles Dreesen, of Spring Green, Wis.; A. M. Mulhern, of Dalton, Wis.

During her long residence in Mazomanie, Mrs. Wolf always proved herself to be a good citizen. She was a good wife, a kind and affectionate mother, a good neighbor and a good friend. During her long illness she was patient, and very considerate of those who cared for her. She will be missed by many.

The funeral was held Wednesday forenoon with services at St. Barnabas church at eleven o'clock. Rev. Father M. Q. Stier conducting the services. Interment was made in St. Barnabas cemetery.

Card of Thanks

We herewith extend our sincere thanks to the kind friends and neighbors who assisted us during the illness and burial of our wife and mother; also for the floral tributes and Spiritual Bonaques.

OBITUARY

Miss J. T. Stewart

Jean Templeton Stewart, daughter of Gilbert and Jane McClure Stewart, was born in Scotland, August 14, 1864.

At the age of three, she came to live at the old home on Halfway Prairie, purchased from the government and has always resided in this vicinity, her home for many years having been in the village of Mazomanie.

She died Sunday, January 20, 1924, at her home here, after a short illness of pneumonia, at the age of seventy-nine years, five months, and six days. She leaves to mourn her death, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clara Stewart, two nieces and a nephew in Hanford, Calif.; a niece, Mrs. Jean Simpson, Alabama, and a nephew, Gilbert, in Mazomanie, also two cousins, Mrs. Robert Lees and Wm. Craney, of this place, and twelve grandniece and nephews, besides numerous friends. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, at two o'clock, with services at the Methodist church, of which she had been a member for many years. Rev. F. M. Purcia officiated at the service. Interment was made in the Mazomanie cemetery.

HE WAS AN INNOCENT SPY

Suspected Writer Drew Hotel Table Plan to Aid Him in Satisfying His Boss.

In time of war it is easy to suspect every foreigner who has the aspect of a foreigner of being a spy. A large part of the work of the intelligence departments consists in running down false agents. Sir Basil Thomson, late director of the special branch at Scotland Yard, tells in his book, "Queen People," some amusing stories to illustrate that truth.

On one occasion a staid couple came down to dine at a hotel. One of the large hotels and brought documentary evidence with them. It was a menu with a rough sketch plan in pencil made on the back. They believed it to be a plan of Kensington Gardens with the palace buildings roughly delineated by an oblong figure. They had seen the waiter in the act of drawing the plan at an unoccupied table.

I sent for him and found before me a spruce little fellow with his hair cut so that it looked like a brush. Much astonished, he gave me a frank account of all his movements, and then I produced the plan. He gazed at it a moment and then burst out laughing.

"This is where my plan went! Yes, monsieur, I made it, and then I lost it. You see, I am new to the hotel, and in order to satisfy the head waiter I made for myself privately a plan of the tables, and marked a cross against those I had to look after."—Youth's Companion.

HIGHWAYS VITAL TO BETTER CIVILIZATION

European Experience Proves Need of Roads in America

The part that highways play in the progress of civilization is well shown by the experience of Europe during the past 2,000 years. From the golden milestone in Rome great highways were built to the remotest bounds of the Roman Empire. Over them went the Roman soldiers, and with them law and order. Over them went the Greek schoolmaster, and with him schools and colleges. Over them went the missionary of the Cross, and with him the church, hospital, medical science, and improved agriculture.

Present day halls of justice, schools, colleges and universities, great churches and cathedrals, and the maximum of population, wealth and culture, are found along the highways thrown out from Rome.

On that fateful July day, when the German thrust the point of his wedge between the English and the French at Chateau Thierry, and there was not a man or a gun to oppose their march to the English Channel, it was the highways which saved Europe. Fifty miles away were forty thousand U. S. Marines and other troops and a thousand American-made motor trucks. Due to the splendid roads of France, they arrived on time, and the "shock-troops" of the German Army were hurled back. The motor trucks and the roads of France saved civilization.

If for twenty centuries the system of highways has been the mold into which sixty generations of Europeans have been run and have taken shape, who can measure the influence on American life of a national highway system, gridironing this land between ocean and ocean and connecting all the country round of all the States, and the rate of speed on European roads was but three to six miles per hour for passengers and two miles per hour for freight, the highway developed twenty centuries of history. What will be the effect on American life with highways which speed up the movement of passengers to twenty-five or even forty miles an hour and freight to twelve or even thirty miles per hour, at the same time reducing the cost?

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

December 26, 1925.

My dear Mr. Anderson:

The work of the Wheat Council of the United States interested me greatly, and I am writing to say that I believe a great practical benefit is likely to derive from it. The effort, in an organized and systematic way, to establish such measure of control over the wheat acreage as will measurably insure against overproduction is altogether to be commended. Almost every important business, except agriculture, has trade organizations and associations through which it is possible to deal with such vitally important matters. Quite obviously the business of agricultural production would benefit by which it must always confront. It seems apparent, too, that such benefit should come from an organized and efficient move to increase the demand for wheat products, through the established methods of business exploitation, so successfully employed in marketing other staples.

Most sincerely yours,

William Brewster

WHY BANKS?

LESSON III

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman.

Committee on Public Education, American Bankers Association.

Banks are defined as "institutions chartered to receive deposits and make loans." What is a bank deposit? What is a bank loan?

BANK DEPOSIT—money or checks left with a bank to be kept safe from thieves, fire or other loss; to earn interest, if in a savings account; to be convenient for the future use of the depositor; to be loaned out to earn the expenses of the bank's services, and interest for the depositor when in an interest bearing account.

BANK LOAN—advance of money to help business enterprise so that business may again help the earner and saver by giving employment.

In the Middle Ages safes were very few. Goldsmiths kept their jewelry in strong boxes, and also accepted for safekeeping, for a fee money packed and marked with the owner's name. In those days money saved lay idle, today it is put to work by banks for the benefit of the depositor and the community.

WHAT ADVERTISING DOES

America has the best life on this earth because it has the best advertising, says Colonel W. G. Edens of the Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association. "American health is the best in the world because American people are best informed in the ways and habits of health, largely through advertising. American business is the largest and most successful in the world because it uses advertising the most. American business men enlarge their business institutions in proportion as they advertise them. American buyers become more shrewd in spending their money in proportion as they read advertisements. "The press of the United States is regarded by many as the most powerful of our institutions. It must be numbered with the schools and the churches as one of the trinity of most powerful creators of knowledge and patriotism. "Advertising is what it is today largely because of the power and success of the daily paper. Nevertheless, it is true that the daily paper is as successful as it is today because of advertising. "The banking business has been benefited largely by advertising within the last dozen or fifteen years. Banking institutions have done more advertising than ever before. They have installed advertising departments which acquaint their communities with the industry regarding the light of institutional secrets. The banker publishes facts which build up confidence in his institution. "The result has been that millions of people who formerly would not place their money in the care of banks, but who boarded it at home, entrusted it to friends, or invested it in wild speculation, now regard the bank as the safest place in the world. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been brought from their hiding places and placed in circulation, much to the advantage of American and American institutions, as well as American business. Newspaper advertising has done more for American banks in the last dozen years than any single agency."
