will celebrate Holy Communion at 7:00 a. m. on Wednesday morning, April 10th. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the service on Tuesday evening.

MARKVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schumann and family spent Sunday with Mrs. G. Schumann.

On Wednesday evening several friends helped Raymond Matz celebrate his birthday.

Dwight Kettelboer celebrated his birthday on Sunday, by entertaining a number of relatives and friends.

A number of relatives and friends helped Mrs. Robert Brochuann celebrate her birthday on Saturday.

On Sunday, April 13th, the class of 1924 of the St. Paul's Lutheran church of Markville will be confirmed by the Rev. E. F. Schertel.

Mrs. Harvey Koepke, of Middleton, spent Sunday at the home of her mother, Mrs. G. Schumann, who is improving slowly after her recent illness.

Fire Waste.

According to recently published figures, one city dwelling is destroyed by fire in the United States every four minutes. Farm buildings are burned at the rate of one every seven minutes. One hospital, five churches and five school houses burn down every day.

Every day 41 persons lose their lives and 47 are injured by fire.

The prosperity of a country is determined quite as much by the amount of its needless waste as by the amount of its accumulated wealth.

As a necessity in establishing a sound basis of credit in commercial transactions, insurance had its origin in private enterprise and it has attained its commanding position as a world force for betterment of social conditions of mankind through the initiative, ability and courage of a group of men as much deserving of immortal fame and glory as any other class of benefactors of the human race. State trading in field of insurance has never advanced the cause by a material improvement in practice. Necessary reforms and changes as dictated by experience have been evolved by private companies and it is due to these and these alone that insurance business has become one of colossal magnitude and world-wide extent.

Money talks louder these days, but its list of speaking acquaintances is growing narrower and more exclusive.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

A regular meeting of the Village board of Mazomanie, was held in the village hall on Friday evening, April 11th. All members were present except Trustee Haseltine.

There being no other business the meeting was adjourned.

Chas. T. Davies, Village Clerk.

Game Wanted.

Mazomanie Sickle—The Varsity Oil Company Baseball Nine of this city would like to schedule a game with a team from your city. If you can get in touch with a team that would give us a game we would appreciate it very much. We are playing to large crowds in our practice games and there is no reason why we shouldn't in your city. Thanking you in advance for what you will do for us in this matter, I remain, very truly yours, C. C. Billa, Manager, 160 S. Webster St., Madison, Wis. Please address all mail on this subject to Department 8.

Flat Rate For Veterans.

An "adjusted pension bill" designed to remove inequities between gratuities now paid veterans was passed by the Senate. The pension bureau estimated it would cost an additional $5,000,000 the first year.

The bill provides a flat rate of $72 a month for veterans of the Mexican and Civil wars as compared with the present basic rate of $50 and makes the allowance for each dependent $8 per month instead of from $2 to $6. There is also a graduated scale for Spanish American veterans based on disability ranging from $20 a month to a maximum of $75.

NOTICE OF BIDS FOR JANITOR

Notice is hereby given that the Union Free High and Joint District No. 2 School Boards of Mazomanie, Wis., will accept sealed bids for a janitor, until April 23, 1924. It is understood that said janitor shall be responsible for all janitor work and any incidental work on or around school property, as the boards may designate from time to time. It is further understood that the school house and grounds must be kept in a clean, comfortable and sanitary condition. This position becomes vacant on June 1st, 1924, and contract will be entered into for one year of eleven months; the month of July shall not be included in this contract. The boards have a right to reject any or all bids.

H. W. Walker, Clerk.

Too Late Then to Hunt.
No time to hunt for a doctor or drug store when suddenly seized with agonizing intestinal cramps, deadly nausea and prostrating diarrhoea, Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy gives instant warmth, comfort and ease from pain. Never fails.

Notice For Final Settlement (and Inheritance Tax Adjustment)

STATE OF WISCONSIN, County Court, Dane County.—In Probate.

In Re Estate of James M. Schaffer, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given. That at the Regular Term of the County Court, to be held in and for said county, at the Court House in the city of Madison, in said County, on the first Tuesday of May, A. D. 1924, there will be heard, considered, examined and adjusted:

The application of Central Wisconsin Trust Company the executor of the estate of James M. Schaffer, late of the Village of Mazomanie in said county, deceased, for the settlement of his final account as such executor, which account is now on file in said court, (for the determination of the inheritance tax), and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to those entitled thereto.

Alfred H. Bushnell, Attorney.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES

SPRING GREEN—Mrs. B. F. Davies went to Mazomanie Monday to see her mother, Mrs. E. J. James, who is ill.

The Arena cheese factory was broken into on the night of March 24th, says the Dodgeville Chronicle's correspondent in that village, and eight cheese were stolen.

The biggest ever! This was the Spring Green municipal election this year! 221 ballots polled! A hundred more than ever before in the history of our fair village! And we will have a new president, one new trustee, a new treasurer and a new pound-masser. "Kick the rascals out!" was the watchword and thrones tattered, and fell! Shades of old-time elections, the work that was done.

John Ring, of Mazomanie, was in this village on business Wednesday. John is patrolman on highway No. 81, between Mazomanie and Sauk City, and has kept his road open to automobile traffic all winter. When the snow began to melt this spring, he scraped it off with a grader and now the road is nice and dry. This should result in prolonging the life of the road as it provides quick drainage.—Home News.

PRAIRIE DU SAC—Mrs. Chas. Schmitt, Mrs. M. and Mrs. Carl Schmitt, of Sauk City, were Mazomanie visitors Friday.

The tickets for the class play April 11, are sold. The play will be repeated Saturday night, April 12, beginning at 8 o'clock.

One hundred and four votes were cast at the annual spring election. There was no opposition to the caucus nominations, not even a second choice appearing on the ticket.

The Twin City Telephone Company, which operates in Prairie du Sac and Sauk City, has made application to the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin for authority to increase its rates.

Sauk City has organized a businessmen's club. Over forty business and professional men are members of the new organization which goes under the name of Association of Commerce.

The large barn on the John Henn farm in the town of Prairie du Sac burned to the ground Tuesday. A number of tons of marsh and tannin hay were also consumed by the flames. The origin of the fire is not known.

The ladies who attended the lecture for ladies only at the Evangelical church Monday afternoon, given by the professor of French at the University of Minnesota, did not get their money's worth according to rumors current concerning the "lecture." Usually speakers who use the house of God are satisfied with a free offering, but not so here. Unless the price of admission, 50 cents, was forthcoming at the door, none were admitted.—The Sauk County News.

MIDDLETON—Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Whitte moved to Madison.

Louis Gugel, who has been ill the past two months, is slowly improving in health.

Hudolph Westphal has purchased the Chas. Lucke farm for $20,000, presumably for another party.

Mrs. Fred Granlund went to a Madison hospital for treatment Tuesday. R. H. Gorio of Stoutland has moved his household goods onto the Geo. Baltes farm north of the village.

Mrs. Wm. Stines died Monday night at her home in Springfield Corners. Deceased is survived by six children.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Atwood will return to their farm home at Kennedy, Wis. Their household goods was shipped Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Duchack and John Bohm moved Thursday into Mr. Bohm's home on Third street, Madison.

Alvan Moler, of Martinsville, died at his home last Saturday after a short illness. He was well acquainted in this community, and a highly respected citizen of his home town.

Saturday morning March 29, we had the first electrical storm of the season. There were only a few clouds of thunder, but the people of St. Bernard's Catholic church was struck by lightning, and it is estimated that it will cost about $800 to repair the damages.—Times-Herald.

Crow Shooting Contest.

A great powder company of this country is offering $2,500 in merchandise prizes in a three-months crow-killing contest.

The Audubon Societies of our country are protesting against the wholesale slaughter of the crow, claiming that while it destroys some corn when it first sprouts, the crow is exempt all the year round destroying insects pests that are harmful to the farmer. Governor Baxter, of Maine, is out in a vigorous protest against boosting the powder business by this method. He said this shooting contest will result in destroying most of the birds besides crows that are not protected by law.

Prominent naturalists all agree that the crow is one of the farmer's friends and should be entitled to the protection of the law. They say that any extensive interference with the balance of natural life as nature has arranged it is likely to have serious consequences.

Investigation has proved that where one species of wild life, particularly a bird like the crow which destroys insects, is driven away or killed in large numbers, the insects on which it lives are likely to become pests.

Remedy Lies With The Voter.

Commenting on the tax question, the San Francisco Bulletin says: "There are two large classes of favorites in this country that are exempt from income tax: the holders of political places and the holders of public bonds. The bonds are exempt also from all other taxes."

"According to the Country Gentleman, one out of every twelve persons in 'United States over 16 years of age' is employed in the public payroll. That means not only that the rest of us provide the salaries for the job holders, but that we also pay the income tax they ought to pay on their salaries. Even notaries public are exempt from income tax on their fees."

"Collier's Weekly relates that the estate of Jacob Schiff, the banker, who in tax-free bonds" Congress has failed to pass legislation making possible taxation of income from such securities.

"The same political parties we create and the more tax-free bonds we issue, the heavier becomes the tax load on those who do not hold political jobs or public bonds."

"These matters to keep in mind when we are asked by urgent politicians to borrow millions on the taxpayers' credit for the purpose of investing in enterprises that will employ large numbers of tax-free politicians."

"We feel a righteous indignation when we read how kings of France, before the revolution, exempted favored classes from taxation, but have we not gone further than any king of France dared go?"

When They Contain No Camel.

Mr. J. M. Young of New Hope, Ala., says "Chamberlain's Tablets are the best thing she has ever used for biliousness and constipation. As they contain no camel she never feels weak or sick after taking them. Small cost, only 25 cents."

English is English—the man who slips up falls down.

BOURBONISM AS A CAUSE OF STRIFE

BY EVANS WOOLLEN,

President, Trust Company Division, American Bankers Association.

The continuance of property-right and the existence of efficient government in this land of universal suffrage depend upon the dominance of sound public opinion.

More than anything else we need understanding between those who have and those who have not, between the "better off" and the "worse off," understanding between those who vote and those who are employed. Understanding between all these is possible but understanding is impossible between the Bourbon and the radical.

Accordingly, a contribution on our side to understanding is the avoidance of Bourbonism. Some of us may well re-examine our conception of property rights. If those who own property and those who are charged with its conservation recognize this fact: That property-right is best defended, not on grounds of tradition, but on grounds of usefulness, there is a chance, through open-minded discussion, for understanding between them and those who vote. On the other hand, with the Bourbon who holds that property-right, unchangeable in all its aspects, is not discussable in any aspect there is no chance for understanding. There is chance for clash. He promotes the class consciousness that in his danger, and the danger of those whose business it is to conserve property into the future. It is possible, in the second place, that some of us may well re-examine our conception of free speech. Thus also we may help, each his little, to avoid misunderstanding between Bourbon and radical. Some of us would find ourselves assuming free speech as the right of those who accept the political and social institutions in which we believe. Whereas the fact is, of course, that free speech, short of incitement to law-breaking, is the right of all of us. It is the right of the communist and the socialist as much as it is the right of you and me. If we who believe in our political and social institutions recognize this fact: That free speech, short always of incitement to law-breaking, is the right of those whose ideas we dislike not less than those whose ideas we like, we promote understanding.

Indeed, let us go farther and say that we had better admit somewhat of our need for representative legislation. Government by jailing can not get the communist and the socialist, but cannot get down communism or socialism. This is the task of those who lead straight and clean and generously.

Let us go farther and say that we had better admit somewhat of our need for representative legislation. Government by jailing can not get the communist and the socialist, but cannot get down communism or socialism. This is the task of those who lead straight and clean and generously.

Protecting Patent Rights.

Due to misunderstanding and misrepresentation regarding the broadcasting situation, the American Telephone Company says that it has not attempted and does not desire money of broadcasting; that all broadcasting stations must and should operate under regulation and permits from the federal government; that the American company's policy is to grant rights under its patents for reasonable compensation to all broadcasting stations having proper federal permission; that its suit against WHN is brought solely for the purpose of protecting its patents from infringement; that any broadcasting station now infringing the American company's patents can acquire a license from the life of the patents upon reasonable terms."

—Forest Protection Week for 1924 has been designated by President Coolidge for April 21 to 27 inclusive, announces the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture in its proclamation. President Coolidge calls attention to the appalling losses that occur each year from forest fires, and urges all citizens, either in association or as individuals, to protect all wooded areas from fire. Governors of many States will issue proclamations supplementing the one issued by the President, and Arbor Day in several States will be observed during Forest Protection Week.

—The question often arises as to the amount received by the large magazines for their advertising space. Various guesses are made, and while the amounts seem extremely large, the advertisers must believe it pays for the space used for this purpose is greater every year. The following rates have recently been announced as the prices paid for space in one of the leading magazines, $8.00; Saturday Evening Post, $7.00; Woman's Home Companion, $6.00; McCall's, $6.00; American Magazine, $4.00. These are the costs per page in black ink. Colored pages cost a great deal more.

—The merchant knew what he was talking about when he said: "The trade territory of a town is not dependent upon the distance to neighboring trading points, but upon the enterprise of the merchants and residents of the town. At the town one need not push out after the trade it will only come as it has to. But if the merchants go after the business in the surrounding country, it will get to the front. It is the man in the town and not altogether the man living in a certain number of miles from it that make a good town."

SOME SAY TO US:—

"WHY DON'T YOU PUT ON A SALE?"

We say that there is a sale on every day at this store. You can always find real bargains in broken lines of Shoes, Clothing, Yard Goods and so on. The other day a man said to us: "Mr. Jones showed me a pair of $7.00 shoes which he said you sold him for $1.50, and I have come to see whether he was fibbing to me or not." That man picked out every pair in the lot that was his fit. Big loss to us, but they must go. And these bargains are self-starters. One customer shows them to another.

A stranger thought one of our wonder bargains in our uncalled for made-to-measure suits, and he threw down two dollars more than we asked him for it. He said that was cheap enough.

Remember, your money back if you are not satisfied.

Gas Tax and Aviators.

The following is a page's dispatch from the daily press:

"When Oklahoma places a tax on gasoline to build highways and tries to collect from aviators, good nature reaches its limit, according to the heads of an aviation company, who plan to form a State-wide organization to protest the payment of such taxes by aviators.

"The legislature raised the retail sale tax on gasoline from 1 cent a gallon to 2 1/2. The aviators point out that they derive no benefit from the roads and do not help wear them out."

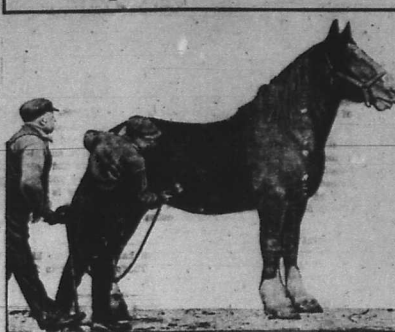

With all due respect to the aviation company and the aviators, it is suggested that this is about as shortsighted and narrow a policy as a business house engaged in the building and marketing of airplanes could well formulate.

What grates the aviator in unfamiliar surroundings? The roads! What roads are visible at great heights? Good roads. What roads are invisible at great heights? Narrow, unimproved roads. When an aviator has to descend at a flying field, what does he get most? Transportation to food and lodging, in a motor car, over good roads? When an aviator has to make a forced landing, where does he go for help, a telephone? To the nearest farmhouse, which is located on the nearest good road!

These are the special interests which the good road has for the aviator and the airplane builder. Both have even larger interests in the general benefit of good roads. For both depend on the prosperity of the country for their prosperity, which increases with every increase in transportation and decreases with every setback of transportation!

When the trolley car was first invented, the steam roads fought it, as a competitor. Now they run it in transportation and decrease the more people travel the more they want to travel. When the good road and the auto truck first began to carry freight, the railroads fought them, as competitors. Now railroads run trucks

More Days Added to Old Dobbin's Life Through Efforts of American Horsemen

This is the season when Old Dobbin steps up for his spring barbering.

Statistics compiled by horsemen show that as a result of the better care given the work horse today, as compared with a few years ago, the life of the average horse is from one to two years longer. This better care included not only a sensible ration and proper housing, but removal of the heavy winter coat when the warm days of spring arrive. During the past few weeks millions of horses will be barbered.

"A man wearing a heavy fur coat couldn't stand hard labor in the warm sunshine," said a leading veterinarian at a recent conference of horsemen. "It is inhuman to wear a horse in warm weather when the animal still wears a heavy coat of winter hair. Long hair makes work more protracted, and holds the moisture. Food that should nourish him must go to replenish the heat drawn from the body at night, or when standing, by the mass of cold, wet hair. On a clipped horse sweat evaporates instantly. The animal can rest comfortably when stabled and this gets the full value of food. Just as a clipped cow is healthier and gives more milk, a clipped horse does more work, and the owner profits. The task takes but a few minutes with automatic clippers, which are inexpensive and last a lifetime. No owner of horses should overlook this highly important detail."

Mechanics have not only made the removal of Old Dobbin's coat a simple matter, but have also simplified the shearing of the nation's sheep, which is already under way in the West. Government tests proved that machine shearing secures from 10 to 15 per cent more wool than the old hand blades, and each year sees new installations of machine shears which, shepherds figure, pay for themselves the first season. Shearing a few sheep, formerly a big problem to farmers, is being solved with the low-cost, long-power machine shears. Farmers' organizations declare it a big money saver. They assert that the saving on the first time over a flock of twenty sheep pays for this hand machine.

Each year finds America getting a bigger average return from cows, horses and sheep as a direct result of more scientific farming methods.

for short-haul freight and help good roads, because the more people travel the more they want to travel. The airplane user and maker begin as did the railroad; they must end, as the railroads have ended, helping the good road, because the good road will help the airplane maker and user.

The New "Ninety Nine."

There's a new victor in the motor boat racing world and wherever enthusiasts gather for the next few months to spend on the big events scheduled for the coming season, its pretty safe to presume that they will have considerable to say about "Ninety Nine."

Edsel H. Ford's new racer is a marvel in its class. To the old timers who gathered for the sweepstakes race down at Miami, Fla., a couple of weeks ago it was a complete surprise. "Ninety Nine" made its debut when it entered for the Biscayne Bay 1924 championship on the afternoon of March 7th, with half a dozen other contenders for the honor. At the gun, the trim, sturdy little craft fairly leapt into the fray and then settled down beautifully for the 20-mile grind around the two-mile course. Soon it had taken half a lap lead over its rivals, and the crowd, which had gathered this until the end of the heat, and without being pushed to any extent, carried away the honors of the day in splendid style.

"Ninety Nine" was, with the same sure confident air of the first day, and letting out a triple more, went into the second heat of the race with a new burst of speed, lapped its nearest competitor three times and easily held that lead to the end of the forty-mile grind, winning the championship and the McAllister Hotel Trophy, a magnificent silver cup, standing 29 inches high on its base of ebony.

"Ninety Nine" arrived home a day or two ago, at the Ford Engineering Laboratory out at Dearborn, Mich., where it will remain until the big classics later in the year.

The name, "Ninety Nine," flashing its silvered letters on the sides, seemed rather familiar and, perhaps, a bit significant. Many will remember the name. Not a score of years ago, when Henry Ford was pioneering in the automobile business he developed a racing car, christened it "89" and drove it to victory in races all over the country. It was with "89" that he first broke the mile-a-minute record.

The "Ninety Nine" is 28 feet, 8 inches long and has a 6-foot beam. It is of V bottom displacement and built for the International Sweepstakes class. It is of mahogany with a three-ply bottom, two-ply sides and one-ply top. The deck is of streamline line design and there is no raised interior hatch.

The engine, a 12-cylinder Ford Liberty marine conversion is a distinct development of Ford engineers. What is the speed of the "Ninety Nine"? No one says, or rather er no one tells. About the most anyone will say is that in tests made in the big boat slip at the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company the speed attained was everything that was anticipated.

Passing It Around.

Patient (calling on family doctor): "Doctor, my son has scarlet fever, and the worse part of it is he admits he got it from kissing the house maid." Doctor (sighing): "Young people will do thoughtless things. Patient—But don't you see, doctor, to be plain with you, I'm kissed that girl myself." Doctor: "My dear, that's too bad. Patient—and to make matters worse, as I kissed my wife every morning, I'm afraid that she too—" Doctor (wildly): good heavens, I too will have it.

It may soon be necessary to offer to keep the tax and let the Government have the income.
