OBITUARY

R. W. Sutcliffe

Robert W. Sutcliffe was born July 11, 1848, in the town of Arona, Wis., and passed away at his home in Mazomanie, Wis., May 21, 1924, at the age of seventy-four years, ten months and six days. His boyhood was spent on a farm. On December 15, 1875, he was married to Amelia Cairns, who preceded him in death on August 23, 1915.

For many years he was engaged in the contracting and carpenter business in Mazomanie. In 1886 the family moved to the old homestead in Mounds, Creek, where they lived until 1916, when Mr. Sutcliffe retired, moving back to Mazomanie. Seven children survive him: Frank Sutcliffe and Mrs. J. H. Harrison, of Mt. Horeb; Bert, of Omaha, Neb.; Charlie, of Madison; Mrs. Bert Wilson, Fred and Irene, of Mazomanie, all of whom were present at the funeral. There are eight grandchildren: three brothers and two sisters: Dean Sutcliffe, of Basalt, Colo.; John, of Spencer, Iowa; Blakey, of Black Earth; Mrs. Dan Davis, of Barneveld; and Mrs. Henry Gefke, of Madison. He was a member of the Masonic Order, Mystic Workers, and Modern Woodmen.

Funeral services were held at the home on Monday, May 19, at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. G. V. H. Shepard. The Masons conducted the services at the grave. The sons and son-in-law acted as bearers.

Among those coming from a distance were: Mrs. Dan Davis, Dave Davis, of Barneveld, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gefke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hennin and family, of Madison; Leonard Gefke, of Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Blakey Sutcliffe, Mrs. Hennin, of Black Earth; Mrs. Rachel Davies, of Plattville, Wis.

Card of Thanks.

To all neighbors and friends who assisted us during the illness and burial of our father, to the church, Masons and others, we wish to extend our sincere thanks.

Arona Store Burglarized.

The general store of Hamilton and Roberts, at Arona, was looted Monday night. A passerby saw the slide door open between five and six o'clock Tuesday morning and notified one of the firm.

It was found that the thieves had entered the store by the window at the northeast corner of the building. The McCaskey system for filing accounts, a fire proof attachment, and which contained from eight to ten thousand dollars of the store's accounts, was one of the things carried away. Men's leather coats, dress shirts, shoes, nine seven and eight canned goods, and other articles were stolen, and other goods thrown on the floor in great confusion. The value of the stolen goods is estimated at not far from $2,000. The cash register, containing a small amount of change, always left open at night, was overlooked, as was also a larger amount in a cash drawer, it being quite probable that in the minds of the robbers the McCaskey was the till containing the money.

Various automobile tracks were seen about the place. One was followed east to Cross Plains, and lost. Another was followed to Spring Green with like results. Later, word was received that part of a McCaskey system was found by school children a few miles beyond Richland Center. Wednesday Hamilton and Roberts went to investigate, and found it was theirs. It had been broken open and abandoned. The children had gathered up the scattered accounts and taken them to their various homes. One mother, thinking them of no value, and that they might contain disease germs, burned the part that came to her. With this find, and a memorandum for income tax returns, their accounts can be established.

Word was received later of two persons selling goods, similar to those stolen, in Viola and LaFarge. They had stripped the gears on their car and had left it in a garage at Roundtop for repairs, going by train up the Kickapoo.

Different ones in Arona heard the robbers. One heard falling glass about midnight. Another heard voices and the words "good-by's." No one, however, noted enough difference in the sounds at that time to take alarm.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Premo and Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Herr, of Merriam, moved to Mazomanie and Black Earth Sunday and called on friends. They attended church services at Mazo where Rev. F. Prucha is pastor. He was pastor of the M. E. church in this village several years ago.

The Geo. Gruber family narrowly escaped serious injury on Monday night when their new Jewett sedan skidded on the wet road near the foot of the Big hill in town Troy and tipped over, the car being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gruber and son, Jesse, who all escaped with but slight bruises. The car caught fire, and was badly damaged.

The safe in the Conger-Schoephoerster Co. store was blown on the morning of December 24 and besides the cash the robbers took all records and other papers. Last Wednesday evening the children of the Hambrecht and Hilgendorf families who reside on this side of the Springfield hill found a bundle of papers in a culvert near their homes which proved to be the papers discarded by the robbers. Among the papers are many of value, such as deeds, bank certificates, stocks and records.—The Sauk County News.

J. WESTON ALLEN

J. Weston Allen, former attorney general of Massachusetts, who destroyed the fish train, drove Charles Pinal into jail, caused the removal of District Attorneys Fletcher and Tuttle for malfeasance and finally broke up the Boston blackmail ring, has been appointed general counsel of the Citizens' Federal Reserve bureau, opened by Frank A. Vandenberg for the purpose of "driving rottenness out of government."

Memorial Services.

Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, fellow citizens, ladies and gentlemen: Memorial services will be held in the Community church on Sunday, May 25, 1924. I am sure that there is a growing regard for Memorial Day and all that it signifies. It is a day regarded by every true patriot as sacred to the memory of the brave boys from 1861 to 1865 who gave their lives. The comrades will meet at the Post hall at nine o'clock A. M. and march to the Community church. The services will be conducted by Rev. Geo. V. R. Shepard. The sons of veterans and our other allied patriotic societies seem glad to accept the responsibilities of the memorial season. The schools and teachers and scholars will do their part.

We want 150 bouquets made up and tied and brought to the G. A. R. Hall at 9 A. M. on Decoration Day, May 30, 1924. The comrades will meet on Decoration Day, May 30th, at the G. A. R. Hall. Music by the High School Band.

D. L. Bestor, W. M. Morehead and P. F. Stuckey will take charge of the procession. A great many cars and trucks will be necessary to convey people to the cemeteries.

And on Decoration Day, May 30, 1924, the Rev. F. M. Prucha will speak at the cemetery.

FOLLOWING THE OLD TRACK

By THOMAS A. CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

OCCASIONALLY I take an early morning train north and pass through the country town near which I lived as a boy. Always I see the same figure standing at a corner of the station or sitting stolidly on a pile of freight nearby. He is an old man now, but for forty years, unless he has been ill or out of town, he has never failed to meet the northbound morning train. There is no special reason for his doing so; he is not expecting anything; he isn't meeting anyone; it is one habit. He is following the old track, and he would feel lost or unhappy, no doubt, if he did otherwise.

We all do it more or less. It requires less energy, less thought, less initiative. It is far easier than to blaze a new trail, to hew out a new road.

But sometimes following the old track means stagnation, a lack of progress and effort. Two old ladies, whom I know, living in a suburban village, still insist on trucking to the post office, ten blocks away, twice daily for their mail, though the free delivery was introduced into that community ten years ago. They do not need the exercise, they do not especially enjoy the walk; they simply cannot pull themselves out of the old track. The choir of the country church which I attended were reasonably familiar with music, but they could not their Sunday morning selections throughout the year to less than a dozen different hymns, though the book contains hundreds. It was as if the minister, tired with preparing his sermon, fell back into the old track when it came to selecting the hymns and shrank back from trying some thing new.

Thirty years ago Mrs. Tobias had the reputation of being the best cook in the neighborhood, but I know that if I should sit at her table today I should be served with the same omelet, the same popovers, the same spaghetti, the same cake she refreshed me with when a boy. She has learned nothing new; she follows the same old track. We see the same tendency everywhere. We do things because they have been done, and we do them as they have been done and pride ourselves often that we are following a tradition, when in fact, from lack of initiative, we are simply following the same old track. It takes courage and energy and alertness to change. It requires power to pull ourselves out of the old rut.

Styles That Suit the Younger Girls

Tuften silk is a friend, tried and true, to every daughter of Eve, from the time of her first perky little purl truck to that of her last sweetly dignified afternoon gown. It is most kind to the backward one when sharp angles must be softened. Its crispness and color make it very flattering, especially in befruffed frocks like that one pictured.

PRODUCING QUALITY CREAM

Don't feed dusty or strong smelling feeds during milking or several hours before milking. Feed after milking.

Don't feed musty or partly decayed food to milk cows. It taints the milk and cream.

Keep milk and cream where the air is pure and away from en-allage and other strong feeds.

Milk contains 87 per cent water; for this reason cows should have only clean and pure water to drink.

Milk clean cows with clean, dry hands.

All utensils should be rinsed, washed and scalded. Use a brush and washing powder.

Wash the separator after each separation.

A separator that is not clean will not skim clean.

If a milking machine is used it must be kept clean, all tubes, test cups and other parts should be thoroughly washed after each milking. Then soak in a disinfectant solution.

Cream should be cooled immediately after skimming. Set in clean, cold water and stir to eliminate the animal heat.

Cellars and well pits are poor places to keep cream.

Never mix warm and cold cream. Cool the warm before mixing.

Keep cans of cream in cooling tank until they leave the farm.

Use cooling tank the year around.

Cream should be delivered at the creamery three or four times a week or oftener. Less frequent delivery often means second grade cream.

Cover cans of cream in transit to protect against heat, cold and dust.

Remember—"Good cream makes good butter." "Poor cream makes poor butter." Good butter always sells at the best price.

Sanitation and successful dairymaking always go hand in hand.

The operator of your creamery is interested in quality and he will be pleased to aid you in solving your problems.

THIN CREAM LOSSES

Skimming thin cream is responsible for large losses in the dairy business.

Cream used for buttermaking should test from 30 to 35 per cent. Thin cream causes loss of skim milk that should be fed on the farm. Cooling, handling and hauling the thin cream causes losses which all dairymen should avoid. Cream testing 20 per cent and up will keep better than thin cream.

This cream is expensive to handle in the creamery for the following reasons:

- It requires more vat room than richer cream.
- It requires more machinery to pasteurize and churn it.
- It takes more power to handle it and consequently causes a larger fuel expense.
- It causes increased losses in churning due to greater loss of fat in the larger volume of buttermilk present.
- It cannot be as successfully pasteurized as can richer cream.
- It does not make the finest butter as the texture and flavor of this cream butter is generally defective.
- A separator will skim a richer cream just as well as thin cream.
- The most successful dairymen always skim cream testing from 30 per cent and up.
- A creamery handling 200,000 pounds of buttermilk would lose at least $3,000 annually if handling cream testing 20 per cent, in addition to the skim milk lost to the patrons. Produce cream that will test 30 per cent or more and avoid these losses.
- Have your skinned milk stirred occasionally to insure that your separator skims clean.
- If you need help or advice, call on the operator of your creamery. Your problems are his problems and he will be pleased to assist you if he can.
