CHURCHES :: SOCIETIES

Mystic Workers.—Regular meeting Thursday evening, October 7, at the hall at 8:30. Installation of officers and other business.—Cor.

Methodist Episcopal Church.—Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning service at 11:30. Subject, "The Voice From the Shore." The church with a welcome for all.—Edward Poherty, Pastor.

Community Church.—In place of the usual Sunday morning order of worship, there will be Italy Day and Promotion Day exercises beginning at 10:30 a. m. This is one of the important occasions in the Sunday school program. We especially want parents to be present and show their interest in the church's work for the children and young people; for the children of today must be the church of tomorrow. Everyone will be heartily welcome. There will be a Senior and Junior Endeavor in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. Let us have a well-attended meeting and try to follow up in the ways shown us at the recent convention.

At The Majestic Theater.

One of the greatest of disasters to overtake any section of land or community was "The Johnstown Flood," which ravished the fruitful Conemaugh Valley on May 31, 1889, which has been faithfully reproduced in a spectacular motion picture by Fox Films, to be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Saturday.

Automobile mechanic, cowboy, cavalryman, champion trick horse rider, aviator, moving picture star. All these and more have been the occupations of Buck Jones, who is coming to the Majestic Theatre Sunday, in the stellar role of "The Flying Horseman." Fox Films latest release.

The most elaborate settings imaginable were constructed for "Meet the Prince," which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Tuesday. Joseph Schildkraut, Marguerite De La Moire, Vera Steadman, Julia Faye and David Butler are featured. One of the sets is a replica of the reception room of the Grand Duke's palace at Petrograd, Russia, and it occupied the greater part of an immense stage.

"Meet the Prince" is an adaptation of Frank Adams' story, "The American Sack," which appeared in a recent issue of Munsey's magazine. Joseph Schildkraut plays the role of a Russian prince who is reduced to poverty following the revolution.

Colorful South Sea Island scenes; a replica of London's famous Beaux Arts ball; one of the screen's greatest battles in history between Milton Sills and Noah Beery; a coronation scene in which Milton Sills and Queen Bronson are crowned king and queen of a tropical island; and a bitter struggle between a stolid, wealthy man and the ne'er-do-well son of an English nobleman. Those are a few of the highlights of First National's latest Milton Sills starring photoplay, "Paradise," which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre, Wednesday.

An unusual cast has been assembled for this picture.

The teaching of golf to a bunch of playful, low-browed workers is an interesting feature of the story of Precilla Dean's current Metropolitan star production, "West of Broadway," which will be on view at the Majestic Theatre next Friday. The scene is laid in the wild and woody West, where men are men and, where one particular man, a woman-hater, forms an exclusive golf and country club, the slogan of which is, "No women allowed." The woman-hater sends to the Eastern club for a golf instructor. Several weeks later Precilla Dean rides into town mounted on a horse and in golf knickerbockers and top coat. The club members thin, who is a lively young man and they plan an elaborate dinner in honor of their new instructor. But when the boys are eating it develops that the "man" is a girl, and then things happen.

FORMER MAZOMANIE RESIDENT DEAD

John P. Wilcox, 76, known as the fourth oldest man in bridge building service for the C. & M. & S. P. road, died Saturday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. J. McKee, 24, Atkinson. He was born in Saukville, Wis., August 29, 1850, and moved to Mazomanie in 1876. He was married to Miss Sarah Van Horn at Mazomanie in 1872. She died four years ago. Ten children were born of this union. Those surviving are: Mrs. W. J. McKee, of Ft. Atkinson; Mrs. F. A. Maley, Kelsey, Minn.; and Harvey H. Wilcox, of Janesville, also five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Mr. Wilcox moved to Janesville from Mazomanie in 1901. He was a member of the Masonic order for forty years.

MAZOMANIE SICKLE

MAZOMANIE, WIS., OCT. 1, 1926.

MYSTICIOUS SPENDER.

THE AVERAGE CITIZEN.

The average citizen makes some unexplainable purchases when he opens his pocketbook. During the year, he pays $228 worth of diamonds, $120 worth of pickles, and 30 cents worth of mirrors. Despite the guesses of editors, he purchased six cents worth of ink and he also took $11.00
worth of advertising.

Exposés published by Mrs. Christine Frederick, in the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences, and reported in the Cooperator, show that the average American spends $1.10 for looks, $2.70 for joy riding but only 22 cents for delectables.

Teas. Though only one in every ten people in the United States brush their teeth, the people of the nation consume enough tobacco to pay off the interest on the entire public debt.
He spends six cents for condiments, 37 cents for typewriters, 31 cents for beans and shells, 18 cents for fountain pens and steel points and $1.29
for religious work.

While he contributes eight cents for professors' salaries, he furnishes $10.00 for public schools. He spends $3.00 for ice cream, $4.50 for luxurious foods and $9.00 for perfume and cosmetics.

Health service costs the average citizen 11 cents. He pays $2.10 for patent medicines, 32 cents for watches, 45 cents for toys and $3.20 for cups and confections. For sporting pools, he pays $2.50 and he finally spends $50.72 for government expen-

As a progressive Dairyman desiring to secure maximum profits from my milk herd, I realize the necessity of adhering to an organized schedule of care, feeding and handling.

ADVANCED MILK PRODUCTION FOR COWS IN DEPENDENT COUNTRIES

During the winter, I have found that my milk is better than purified milk
and that I need not use any more and better milk
from each cow.

My first step should be the selection of a cow type best suited to a selection which should always command great care and
good judgment.

Any cow in my herd
should be of a type
which in necessary
qualifications shall understand a job, but then again not. What I spend on my herd must come back to me at a profit.

During the hot months, whenever possible, I shall keep my cow in a cool, airy place, where they may show their only increase and maintain on
the benefits of being
a good mother rather than
a parasite.

Proper selection of dams
also will bring its own rewards in more milk,
better milk and better
animals.

A dirty condition like that shown here should never be seen in my herd. Rather than clean, I shall keep and
show their only increase and maintain on
the benefits of being
a good mother rather than
a parasite.

The comfort of the animal is important.
Thorough cleaning
should be performed
after each milking, wipers and underwear should be kept clean and dry. The body when keeping and in the spring
shall be part of my program.
Clean animals, clean milk with low bacteria count.

As soon as possible, I shall keep my milk in a cool, airy place, where
they may show their
only increase and maintain on the benefits of
being a good mother
rather than a parasite.

The growth in the number of our nation's associations continues
the fact that membership in one is a good thing. I plan my association full support
and co-operation.

The dairy man's duty is to keep his milk in a
cool, airy place, where
they may show their
only increase and maintain on the benefits of
being a good mother
rather than a parasite.

Proper feeding is essential. Therefore I shall always provide a carefully
balanced ration
to my herd, as well as a plentiful
supply of pure,
clean water.

When my milk is better I shall know I am providing for my herd. I shall get more milk
and more money
for my milk and the growth of clean and better
milk will spread throughout the land.

When the World is Mine!

O. Lawrence Hawthorne

I cannot understand how rich
How great a heritage is mine;
I cannot comprehend the grace
Of Nature's infinite design;
I cannot know what ecstasy
Of soul its grandeur signifies—
Dear heart, I cannot comprehend
Until I look into your eyes!

Beyond the bounds of space and time
The rhapsody of life extends;
I cannot understand where joy
Begins or where contentment ends.
So vast is Nature's artistry,
I am bewildered by its charms—
But all this wondrous world of love
Is mine when you are in my arms!

—R. G. Dahling is now on Hudson street, located next to the library.

—A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. I. Hallway, of Roxbury, last Friday.

—Girls! Golf! Guns! Tarballs! Chills! Spills! They're all West of Broadway.

—Jury Schlough, of Lone Rock, is a visitor with relatives and friends here this week.

—Quite a number from this place attended the Mazmanic program at Madison last evening.

—Pore! Clear the screen for the finest cowboy golf picture of the year, "West of Broadway."

—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brown and Joseph Sharratt have just started on a trip to the Pacific coast.

—Glasses carefully and correctly fitted by H. Lappley, Registered Optometrist, Mazomanie, Wis.

—Robert Moris, of Ft. Atkinson, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bohm and family during the week.

—A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll King is convalescing after an illness from toxic poisoning.

—Nels Johnson and O. M. Farrell went to Milwaukee, yesterday, and drove home two new Ford cars.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bywater, of Lemmon, S. D., are visiting with relatives and friends in this locality.

—R. G. Dahling is now better prepared than ever before to take care of the work that may come his way.

—Mrs. Thos. Caldwell has gone to Boston, to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Frankton, and family.

—When golf invades your ranch, keep your stock in the barn. A theme superbly developed in "West of Broadway."

—Leslie Roelke was brought home from the hospital at Madison, Tuesday, and is rapidly recovering from his accident.

—A heavy rain, which continued throughout the night and this morning with much thunder and lightning, set in last night.

—Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Quinn will move to the R. Dunnlap place and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cain to the Quinn house, according to report.

—Ladies Aid.

—W. F. Stadelmann has installed a gasoline pump in front of his blacksmith shop, for the sale of Sunbeam gasoline. He has also made some alterations on the building.

—When you have an estate to probate, we would esteem it a favor to have the legal notices published in the Sickle. Ask your lawyer to send these notices to the local paper.

—In order to expedite the production of job work, the Sickle office has this week installed a Kluge automatic job press feeder, which will handle anything, paper or cardboard, from the size of a visiting card to a 12x15 poster at whatever speed the press is running. The new machine is now in operation.

—A heavy frost occurred here on Sunday morning, the first serious frost of the season. Some late corn and potatoes were shipped, and corn fodder was more or less damaged.

—How the golf bug works is shown in "West of Broadway." Golf fends, and even those who don't know a maul from a mallet, will enjoy this diverting picture. Our tip is, see it!

—When a compuncer forsakes his gun and saddle for the golf ball and sticks, it follows that there's a woman in the background. There was a woman in "West of Broadway," but oh, what a girl!

—There will be a meeting of all Arena Cow Testing Association members and any others interested in reorganizing for 1929-7 in the Ag. room of the Arena high school, Friday evening, October 1, 1928.

—The annual convention of the Dane County Sunday School Association will be held at Grace Episcopal church, Madison, on Thursday, Oct. 7. Sessions will begin at 1:30 p. m., and continue through the evening.

—Miss Hazel Thudium, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thudium, of Arcana, and Garth Holcomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Holcomb, of this place, were married at Locust, Ill., September 18. They will make their home here.

—A marker, in honor of John F. Appleby, Mazomanie man, inventor of the knotted which made the self-blinder possible, will be unveiled by the State Historical society, Sunday, Oct. 10, 1928, at the Houghton farm, between Whitewater and Elkhorn.

—We have received no report of the C. E. convention held here last Saturday and Sunday, but we understand the entire two days program was carried out very successfully, including a number of inspiring addresses and some excellent music. The banquet given Saturday evening was well attended.

—Thanking all my customers and my many friends for the kindness they have extended me, and sincerely hope that the nearer we get to the end of this world the kinder my many friends will strive to be. With love to one and all. I often wonder, will you miss me when I am old and feeble and cannot work any more. I shall have to leave this to you and to guess. So will say goodbye for this time to one and all. Yours for good luck and happiness. From your old friend, as ever, R. G. Dahling.

—Arena Ag. Fair, Friday, October 5, all day. Everything free except the dinner. Weed identification contest at 10:30 a. m. Pony race at 11:30 a. m. THE BIG FIGHT.

Life is a fight. It's a fight for food, roof and raiment. Some fight for wealth and power—some for love and happiness. Some fight despair and disaster, and some a joyless life. Some fight for glory, and some for hollow praise. Some fight the good, and some the bad. Some on the crumbling edge of death—in spite of age-aches and want—fight to keep the flag flying.

This store fights for honest goods and honest prices, which does some good. It's not so with last week's fight. When men fight like wounded tigers—when thousands see them beat each other unconscious—when the impressionable heart of childhood is allowed to listen in on the gory tale, it's a fight that does infinite harm.

But there's no harm in our sincerely fighting for your business, and that's the reason why we have you in mind continually, when we buy the newest styles and patterns. If you'll come now, you'll be surprised how much better they look than we can describe them in print.

NEW OVERCOATS, $10.00 TO $35.00.

Pardon us for calling attention to them again. But we want you to know they are as snappy as any you have ever seen. They are the aristocrats of the finest looms, and they fairly shout their message of value to you. We can't tell you about all the goods in this store that will fight winter's coldest days for you. The best way of finding out is to drop in on a shopping tour.

You are always welcome in our store. Even if your main interest is in seeing what is new, we shall be glad to tell you of the new styles. We want you to feel that this store is here to serve you in whatever capacity it can be of service.

Science Points to Cheaper Pork

Big Profits Quick Turnover
Small Profits Slow Turnover

That was in 1922. Many of the leading hog growers looked upon the development of one-ton litters in six months time under average farm conditions as nothing more than an idle dream and politely refused to take part in the contest. Mr. Wiley and his associates, however, secured around the state until they had found a sufficient number of farmers who were willing to follow the few simple, yet rigid rules laid down for the contest. The work began. Long before the pigs were six months old the excellent results of the work became evident. Thirty-six ton litters were marketed in Indiana that year as a result of that contest, and the "Doubling Thomases" had to admit that the raising of litters weighing a ton in 180 days under average everyday farm conditions was not only possible, but could be accomplished without much difficulty.

After the first season's work, the swine extension men in other states were so completely sold on the ton-litter idea that the organization of ton litters was immediately made a major project in practically every section of the country. From these thirty-six litters in the one ton class in 1922, interest in the work has continued to grow until now 741 ton litters were reported in 23 states. Following are the states where ton litter contests flourished last year, and the number of ton litters credited to each:

Illinois	122	Texas	11
Pennsylvania	121	Idaho	10
Minnesota	119	Virginia	9
Kentucky	44	Louisiana	4
Missouri	35	Kansas	4
Iowa	27	Arkansas	3
Michigan	18	Carolina	1
Total	741

Two Tons of Pork on Hoof.

The astounding thing about the 1923 "Ton Litter" contest in the various states is the phenomenal weight to which some of these litters have been brought up. Over seventeen tons of hogs from eight sows on seven farms in six states were produced in one year. These eight sows, with one in Texas in 1924, are the dams of the only known litters in the world to reach a weight of five tons or more in 180 days of age. They demonstrate absolutely that not only can one ton of pork on the hoof be made in six months, but that double that amount is possible if the best methods of breeding, feeding and management are followed.

The champion litter of the year and of all time was produced by the Hawtigh Farms at Freeport, Ill. This remarkable group of 16 purebred Poland-China pigs reached the world's record weight of 4,780 pounds in six months after passing the one-ton mark when 102 days old. These pigs were reared by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation from 25,000 others on the Chicago market when they were within five minutes of the "slicer's" knife in the packing plant. They were then used to make up one of the feature educational exhibits at last year's American Royal and the International Livestock Shows. Another litter was brought up to weight in 180 days, with one in Texas in 1924, are the dams of the only known litters in the world to reach a weight of five tons or more in 180 days of age. They demonstrate absolutely that not only can one ton of pork on the hoof be made in six months, but that double that amount is possible if the best methods of breeding, feeding and management are followed.

Mr. Wiley's survey also showed that the average litter contained but five and seven-tenths pigs and that the average weight of these litters at six months of age was 1,000 pounds for those made up of the concentrate at seven pigs. This convinced Mr. Wiley that the key to increased hog profit lay in the profitability in sows and the ability to grow piglets in pigs.

Biggest Two-Ton Litter Ever Produced.—16 pigs out of a single sow—weighing 4,780 pounds in 180 days. The champion litter was shown at the five stock expositions in Kansas City and Chicago last fall by its owner, the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

Prof. J. R. Wiley of Purdue University, who led the ton-litter idea.
F. H. Thomas of Raean, Indiana, who made the ton-litter idea.

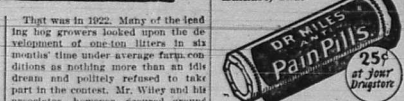

Stock shows in America, the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation hoped to demonstrate just what business-like methods in growing hogs for the market would do for the farmer. says Samuel R. Guard, director of the Foundation. "When these 100 litters were first started the idea was to produce 2,000 pounds of pork in six months from a litter of ten. That meant an average of 200 pounds a pig in six months. Some farmers believed this was too much, but many of them, by breeding prolific, rapidly maturing stock of good size, succeeded in producing litters weighing over a ton. The world's champion litter went well over the two-ton mark in six months, instead of a single ton. This should convince the average farmer that a production of 'Ton Litters' is not such a difficult matter after all. We fully expect to see the 4,780-pound record eclipsed this year."

SCHOOL NEWS

There will be a candy sale Friday, October 8. The Fifth and Sixth grade are having this sale.

The play entitled "Come Out of the Kitchen" will be given the first part of November for the benefit of the H. S. Athletic Association.

The society which was organized by the Fifth and Sixth grade adopted their constitution and named their society the "Mazomanie Live Wires."

The Third and Fourth grades are fortunate in having a new classmate, whose name is Richard Kratochwill. The Sixth grade also has a new pupil, named Paul Kratochwill.

The football boys were defeated 12 to 0 at Roseland last Friday, but Mr. Gregory reports that the boys made some excellent plays. We hope that only next game, which is with Arena, will be a victory.

The Third and Fourth grade won a first and third prize at the state fair on work which was done last year. The Second grade also won a first prize on their weaving work and a courtesy booklet.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association for the 1920 school year will be held in the High school assembly room on Monday evening, October 4, at eight o'clock. Every member of this district is earnestly urged to be present. Geo. J. Barrett, Principal.

CALLS IT OBLIGATION

Young Says Electrical Industry Must Solve Rural Problem as Matter of Duty.

Farm electrification is not a business opening as much as it is a social obligation, in the opinion of Owen D. Young, a farm owner and with a farm boyhood behind him, now chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric Company. The obligation, in Mr. Young's opinion, rests with the electrical industry. In an interview which Mr. Young has just granted to the New York Times, he says: "It is the electrical industry's job to make its contribution to adequate and economy in farm production. Otherwise, the electrical industry will be found wanting. And it must accept a problem of this magnitude and character as 'presenting a duty rather than a new market.'"

"The question is, how can a business of this size and importance be developed in such a way that the electrical industry can sell its service for what the purchasers can afford to pay? Anybody can produce goods at such a price that no one can afford to buy them. Business demands that the price shall be within reach of the potential customer, and that there shall be a fair return to the producer."

"It is incumbent upon the manufacturing branch of the electrical industry to meet this problem. It must not only develop the necessary machinery, it can be done. The manufacturing branch supplied the textile field. It provided the machinery for the mine and the railroad, for the steel mill and the bakery."

"We can make farming attractive, comfortable and profitable. Electricity can lighten farm labor and increase farm profits. It will check the exodus of the better type of citizens from the farm. It will make the farmhouse the most delightful home we have in this country."

Mr. Young added that it was hardly to be expected that the isolated electric light and power company, having no inter-connection of power lines with any other utility company, could go out and serve the farmer at a distance loss. But the opportunity came pointed out, when fifteen or twenty such isolated utilities were tied together into a single system with large power plant and a system of distribution lines, thereby accomplishing economies which each of the single isolated plants could not work out.

Electricity Their Stead
Part of the world, at least, more by electricity. The passengers carried in one year by the electric railroads in this country would make a line of people, shoulder to shoulder, that would stretch five times around the earth.

Dairy cattle exports from Wisconsin last year numbered 58,446 individual animals, a new record.
