The Wisdom of Nature

By O. Lawrence Thompson

The one great lesson men should learn from Nature is that cooperation brings success. We know that rain and sunshine work together To fill the world with health and happiness. Consistently the elements contribute Their service for the benefit of man— Each force, though great or small may be its duty. Does well its part in God's unfailing plan.

The songs of birds, the colorings of flowers, The blush of morning and the kiss of night— These all combine to form the charm of Springtime. And so caress our spirits with delight. Without the aid of Winter's rest, all Nature Would soon become exhausted and decay. Just so does darkness give new strength and vigor And fit creation for another day.

Let us, then, borrow wisdom from the seasons, And knowledge that shall guide us as we go Along the busy path of life's endeavor. Let us remember that we all may know Success when each is faithful in his service. And mindful of the needs of other men: For what we give in true cooperation Will surely come to bless our lives again.

Town and Country Lines.

Wisconsin's farm folk week will be held in Madison, January 31 to February 4.

About 3.6 per cent of Wisconsin's dairy cows are on yearly test in cow testing associations.

Statistics show that livestock farmers fared better during the past year than producers of crops and grains.

Highway officials in 36 snow states report a program of open roads for this winter that covers 42,756 miles.

Rat proof buildings must be adopted as the final step in permanent rat control, advises experts at the state experiment station.

Principal crops of the United States harvested during the past year were valued at $7,801,004,000, this figure being based on December prices.

One hundred and twenty-six students are enrolled in this winter's short course at the state college of agriculture, Madison. New students may enroll February 16. The course continues to March 18.

Thirteen cents of every dollar produced on Badger farms is devoted to the production of pork. This ratio will not necessarily be changed as result of the swine improvement campaign now being followed in the state, as the primary object of the drive is to increase and improve the production of each producing unit.

A seed corn shortage looms in Wisconsin. Tests made of corn now being held for spring planting plainly indicate that much of the seed supposed to be sound and of strong vitality is low in germination. Even at this time of the year, some corn is not dry enough for safe storage. This condition was caused by the late fall season, early frosts and wet fall weather.

American men choose the styles that are to be worn by the women of this country. Most of the buyers who go to Paris from the large American stores are men, according to Miss Marion Joune, clothing instructor at the University of Wisconsin, who has visited the Paris establishments of many famous designers. Buyers go to these designers and study their models, often suggesting changes they wish made for their American trade. Later, these designs appear on the streets of this country. The freshest styles that are often called Paris styles are not designed for Parisiennes, she declares, but for tourists and buyers.

"Home Sweet Home" wasn't written by a man who had to go to the cellar to smoke.

Man never realizes how much he is until he tries to quit smoking or meets a woman insurance agent.

Showing the Way

AS Columbus demonstrated to the courier who sought to detract from the credit due him for his discoveries, anyone can stand an egg on end—or cross strange seas—after someone else has shown the way.

The task of creating a nation-wide telephone service, like that of discovering a new world, is one for the pathfinder and the pioneer. The telephone, as the modern American knows it, has been made possible by the doing of a multitude of things in the realms of research, engineering and business administration that had never been done before; by patiently working out an endless succession of seemingly unsolvable problems.

Only because of its willingness and ability to lead the way in telephone development has the Bell System been able to provide America with a nation-wide, universal service that sets the standard for the rest of the world.

One day—so it's said—a little bantam rooster took his wives over to Julius Wendt's chicken house to show 'em the nice large eggs.

And as they stood there admiring them he preened himself and said:

"Now, girls, I'm not finding fault you understand, but do you see the size of those eggs? That's worth crowing about."

The moral is that if you want big eggs, don't try to get them with a bantam. It is so with clothes. Don't try to pick them from a bantam line. Pick them from our large line that will give you a fit, your ideal pattern, service and satisfaction, or money back.

Tony Lewis tells about a man whose nose got cut off. He slapped it on again, and tied it with his handkerchief. When he untied it some days later, he found he had slapped the nose on up side down, and when he sneezed it would blow his hat off.

That's just the way some clothes are slapped together. Any way to slap them out cheap. But as much care is taken in the making of the clothes we sell as a skillful surgeon would take in putting your nose on your face again. And they cost only a trifle more.

Our line of Spring Clothes is surely the best ever. We look to it to smash all selling records in our years of business in Mazomanie. With your help we'll do it.

At The Majestic Theater.

Saturday—Marie Prevost's new Metropolitan comedy production, "Almost a Lady," which comes to the Majestic Theatre Saturday, provides Miss Prevost, the star, with a splendid opportunity for pathos and the colorful roles in which she is at her best. Her supporting cast includes Harrison Ford, George K. Arthur, Barney Gilmore, Tristie Frigana and John Miljan. The play is based upon Frank Adams' story, "Six Days and as has its central theme the tribulations of a poor modiste's model and the social inclinations of a newly-rich Irish couple. Marie Prevost, as the model, is asked by the Irish climber to impersonate a countess at a ball where she is to appear at her first reception—Harrison Ford is mistaken for a duke. Complications, full of humor and drama, mark the denouement. The comic situations are in the clever hands of Tristie Frigana as the newly-wealthy matron and her beer-drinking, love-making, simple husband, Barney Gilmore. The story was adapted for the screen by F. McGrew Willis. E. Mason Howard directed.

Wednesday—They practiced for weeks and the more they practiced the worse they got! Vera Reynolds, star of "Corporal Kate," a new Paul Sloane production, coming to the Majestic Theatre, Wednesday, and Julia Faye, rehearsed the sly act they execute as entertainers in France in the Zelda Sears photoplay, for several weeks. Finally, Director Sloane pronounced them ready to go, and called them to do their dance in a huge canteen set. Kenneth Thompson, noted leading man of the New York stage who plays opposite Vera Reynolds, watched the girls dancing and when they had finished and the cameras stopped grinding, he advised: Better stick to pictures, girls; you're rotten! But they are supposed to be terrible dancing, interrupted Sloane, who practiced it that way. "Corporal Kate," by the way, is a humorous version of the recent great war. It deals with three women who are made buddies by the war and who have many thrilling adventures. Of course, there is a delightful love story and the action is packed with drama, tears, laughs and appeal. Julia Faye and Mabel Coleman are two of the three buddies and both add materially in making the story strictly one hundred per cent screen entertainment.

Friday, next week—The Texas desert country near the border of Mexico, is the locale of "The Border Whirlwind" an F. B. O. production starring Bob Custer, which is coming to the Majestic Theatre next week Friday. There is no setting more typical of the west: it is replete with stretches of sand, sage and mesquite, and forms a colorful background for the activities of the popular Western star. The story, by James Ormont, abounds in adventure. It is centered about a youth who, on his return to his father's ranch, is immediately thrust into the throes of an intrigue to which he must give unsparringly of his courage and dauntless valor. Custer is equal to the most stringent tests, and will delight his followers by his talent in riding, handling a whip and throwing knives, the latter two which he displays for the first time on the screen. The cast includes Sally Long, Josef Swickard, Wilbur Hilly, Whitford Lewis, Bobby Nelson and Philip Sigward.

JACK RABBIT PARADE.

The following rabbit story is from the Aberdeen, S. D., American-News of last Sunday:

Dr. Waller, of Mellette, owned a tame Jack rabbit, which he kept at large around town, had a bell tied on its neck to identify it. New Year's day, Waller, Newton, Rockwell and Armstrong, who has recently perfected a Jack rabbit caller, agreed to go rabbiting. They started out in Waller's car with Armstrong. The Pied Piper, blowing forward astride the hood, hounded his caller, the tame Jack rabbit, and trailing behind. They drove clear around Tetonia township; as they passed along every rabbit in sight or hearing joined the procession following the decoy. On returning to Mellette, the men drove right down Main street, the citizens turning out, surrounded the herd of Jacks following the car, killing them all.

On counting the game they were very much surprised to find they had 288 rabbits, which were sold to a Brenford produce dealer at 14c each, netting $37.52, which was donated to the Mellette Chapter of the Ancient Order of Prevaricators No. 15. The only accident to mar the day's sport, was when an excited man by the name of Gotsas killed the decoy.

MAZOMANIE CREW ON THE JOB.

A temporary trestle, to fill the 220-foot gap left by the temporary removal of the big pontoon boat in the railroad bridge over the Mississippi river at Prairie du Chien, was installed in 25 hours by four picked bridge crews of the Milwaukee road, starting work at midnight Sunday. Sixty 50-foot

Skimmilk Economical as Calf Feed

Skimmilk-fed Calf Whole milk-fed Calf
151 lbs.—Daily gain—186 lbs.
$2.26—Cost per 100 lbs. gain—$7.60

JUST as good calves can be raised on skimmilk as with whole milk, declares the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. While the daily gains in weight are not quite so pronounced in the skimmilk-fed calf, the expense of putting on gains is much less than with the calf receiving whole milk. A group of Kan' calves fed skimmilk for a period of 154 days made an average daily gain of 1.51 pounds per head at a cost of $2.26 per 100 pounds of gain. Another group that received whole milk throughout the five-month feeding period made daily gains averaging 1.86 pounds at a cost of $7.60 per 100 pounds; or at a cost which was nearly 3 1/2 times greater per pound than for the skimmilk calf.

Skimmilk differs from whole milk only in the amount of fat it contains. Since the fat is not the most important part of the milk for the calf and can be supplied much cheaper with grains rich in corn, there is no need for feeding this expensive ingredient of whole milk.

While the skimmilk calf does not always look quite as thrifty as the whole milk calf, the difference in the weight and thriftiness of the two at the end of the year, providing both have been fed well. Slightly larger gains than the whole-milk calf makes during the first few months of its life will later in the year be offset by the smaller gains it makes during the first two or three weeks after weaning. The skimmilk calf becomes accustomed to eating grain and hay at an early age. When he is weaned the change of feed is not so noticeable as it is with the whole-milk calf.

It makes you feel happy and hungry. Excellent for obstinate constipation. Geo. A. Shields, Drugist.

S. DAKOTA FARMER TELLS OF SUCCESS

Practical farmers and stock-men will be interested in the experience of C. H. Humphrey, Corson County, S. D., just west of Mobridge, S. D., who came out here sixteen years ago from Wisconsin.

There was something in the atmosphere and freedom of this country that attracted Mr. Humphrey, and there was a satisfaction in turning a furrow without having to sell a bushel in March without having to ap to discover a price which would be the best to realize as to what would be the best method of getting the "Quack Grass" or Taking up his land with only a small amount of capital, he quickly developed its naturally favorable qualities with diversified farming and now owns and successfully farms 320 acres. His average production of wheat is 15 bushels to the acre; of oats, 30 bushels; of corn, 25 bu. 3/4; and of barley, 25 bushels. His garden flourishes also.

Very good success, he reports, in raising hogs, cattle and horses. The stock and confined as much as in the East, and the cost of producing their feed is less. Chickens and turkeys are very profitable; also the production of milk. There are wonderful opportunities now open in the Northwest. For full information write to H. F. Hunter, Agricultural Agent, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, Union Station, Chicago.
