CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST The Word of God

18. Christ for all—all for Christ. Matthew 19:20, 17, 20, 21. And behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life? 17. And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments. 20. The young man said unto him, All these things have I kept from my youth up; what lack I yet? 21. Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come and follow me. Prayer: O Lord, before we called Thou didst answer, and while we were yet speaking, Thou didst hear. How does God expect us to walk? Answer, read—Gen. 17:1.

PROPER CARE WILL DOUBLE LIFE OF RAYON GARMENTS

If you want your rayon dress and underclothing to wear well, use no water softer when you are washing them.

This is the advice of Miss Marion Jaure, of the home economics department at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. She has found in several experiments that rayon which is washed in softened water does not wear as well as rayon washed in regular city or well water and that rayon washed in soft water and mild soap wears best of all.

Rayon is now being used in making many of the braids, trimmings, embroidery, silks, fancy tapes, draperies, curtains, and other novelties as well as standard materials that Miss Jaure believes we all need to know how to handle it.

Unlike most other fabrics that we buy, rayon materials are weakest when they are wet and so cannot be pulled or stretched then. Often just the weight of an all rayon garment as it hangs on the line to dry is too much for the weakened fibers and they break. But materials made of rayon and cotton can be hung to dry without danger of stretching.

Rayon is frequently combined with other fabrics these days, Miss Jaure says. Combined with wool, it makes a warm but brilliant material with cotton, it gives a much more silk-like appearance to the fiber, and with real silk it increases the luster. Many rayon materials have been so perfected that it is hard to tell rayon from silk. Miss Jaure sees no objection to this imitation if we get what we are paying for, but she does object to paying for silk that wears when she is getting rayon that wears. A good way to know is to place the material next to the cheek. The rayon feels cold while the real silk feels warm.

line and relieved the pressure there somewhat.

It became evident to Howard that when Tarleton should bring his reserves into action his exposed right flank might be thrown into confusion and he ordered the flank company to change front to the right. His orders were misunderstood and the company, instead of retreating, began to advance.

Howard's line, seeing this, and supposing that orders had been given for a retreat, faced their men about and began to retire. Morgan, who was engaged in reforming the militia, was surprised to see his Continentals, who had fought so valiantly at Camden, in apparent retreat. He quickly responded to Howard, "What are you retreating for?"

he shouted. "Simply a change of position to protect my right flank," replied Howard. "Are you beaten?" asked Morgan. Pointing to his men, Howard said, "Men who are retreating in that order are not beaten."

Morgan then ordered Howard to continue his retiring movement until he reached the rising ground in the rear and then rode back to select the position where they were to make their stand.

The British, seeing this movement and believing that the British were retreating, pressed forward with great confidence. Howard's line was ordered to charge. By this time not more than thirty yards separated the "retreating" Americans and the victory-flashed redcoats. Suddenly Howard gave a sharp order. His men wheeled right about face and from their guns poured a sheet of flame which stopped the British in their tracks and threw them into great confusion. Howard then gave the order "Charge bayonets!" Back over the ground which they had just crossed swept

Howard's Marylanders. Like a thunderbolt Washington's cavalry dashed down upon them. The panic which caught the British infantry spread to Tarleton's dragoons and a general flight followed. Tarleton tried in vain to rally his men but it was useless. Within twenty minutes after the battle began it was over and the British were completely defeated. Tarleton had suffered a loss of 110 killed, 200 wounded, and 200 prisoners. The American loss was slight—12 killed and 60 wounded. The spoils of the victory amounted to 2 standards, 2 cannon, 800 standards of arms, 100 drums, 200 muskets, 200 knives, 200 blankets, 200 hats, 200 coats, 200

When Your

for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort.
And any night you find your thrilled baby's a bottle in the house, just a few drops, and that child's constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants.
Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may seem to grownups. Good old Castoria!
Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

Lesson for May 5

WHAT HILKIAM FOUND IN THE TEMPLE

LESSON TEXT—II Chron. 24:14-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Finding a Lost
Book.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Finding a Lost
Book.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Discovering a Guiltless
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—THE KING IS NOT A LIE.

I. The Book of the Law Found (vs. 14-17).

1. The occasion (vs. 14).
It was while restoring the temple during Josiah's reformation that the Book of the Law was discovered. No doubt, in clearing out the dark corners to make repairs and to find a place to store the subscriptions made by the people, many things which had been lost were found, among which was the law. This was "the law of the Lord given by Moses."

2. The book delivered to the king
(vs. 15-17).
In a report of the work, the king was informed of the finding of the Book of the Law by Hilkiah, and the book was delivered to him.

11. The Effect of the Reading of the Law (vs. 18-25).
Shaphan, the scribe, read the law before the king.

1. The king rent his clothes (vs. 10).
As the law was read before him, the king was led to realize the awful extent of the nation's departure from God. He knew that sin merited punishment. The function of the law is to reveal sin. The reading of the royal roles indicated that the king was penitent and sorrowful.

2. The king sent a deputation to make inquiry of the Lord (vs. 20, 21).
The king included himself in guilt before God. "Go inquire for me and for them that are with me, whether the wrath of the Lord that is poured out upon us." His sense of sin was so keen that he sent to inquire of the Lord as to whether there were any means of diverting the divine judgment. Instinctively, the human heart turns from God's threatening judgments to a means of escape. The soul that sorrow for sin inquires for a way of escape. The law prepared for the sinner. The law is our schoolmaster to bring us to Christ (Gal.
3:24).

3. The message of Huldah, the prophetess (vs. 22-25).
(1) Confirmation of what the law said (vs. 22-25).
She said that all the curses written in the law must fall, for the king had been so flagrant that God's wrath could not be restrained. Destruction was hanging over Jerusalem and it was too late to avert it. It was not too late, however, to repent and to obtain mercy from God, but the outward consequences of sin must be realized.
Fulfillment of this is found on every hand today. The murderer must hang.
(2) Acceptance of Josiah's repentance (vs. 23-25).

Because of his tenderness of heart and deep penitence, the Lord said he should be granted to give him peace and should not see all the evil to be brought on Jerusalem and its people. What Huldah said was true, even though Josiah died in battle (vs. 23-25). When God accepts a man and forgives him, his death is a benefit. Even though it may be on the battlefield, God's presence with him, therefore he will go straight from the battlefield to the heavenly home (vs. 23-25).

III. The Law Obeyed (vs. 20-23).

1. The king read the law (vs. 20, 21).
He gathered together the inhabitants of Jerusalem, including the priests, Levites and elders, and read unto them the law.

2. The king made a covenant before the Lord to keep His commandments and testimonies (vs. 31, 32). In this covenant he pledged himself to do all that the Lord commanded.

(1) To walk before the Lord (vs. 31).
This meant that he would get personally right with God.

(2) To keep the Lord's commandments, testimonies and statutes with all his heart and soul (vs. 31). To read the law is not enough. The holy requirements must be obeyed.

(3) To perform the words of the covenant, which were written in the book (vs. 32). This was done when he and he caused all that were present to "stand to it."

3. The king took away the abominations out of all the countries which he and he caused all that were present to "stand to it." All the days of the king they departed not more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

The Camel and the Rich Man And Jesus looked round about and said unto his disciples, How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God? It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.—Mark 10: 25-26.

PARTY HELPERS

"You must come along," said the Sun to the blue sky.
"Come where?" asked the blue sky.
"To a party the children are giving."

"How can I?" the sky asked. "Just because you're so very bright. Mr.
Sun, you mustn't think you can do everything in the world."

"You can't really go to a party, and neither can I!"
"Ah, I must explain," said Mr. Sun.
"I'm," said the blue sky.

"The children are giving an out-of-door party."
"They are going to wear beautiful paper costumes and have a maypole and they're going to decorate their express carts—and it's all going to be very grand."

"Well, that's sort of thing I must attend. And so must you."
"For this is what the children said, you see—"

"Children say many things," said the blue sky, interrupting.
"Yes," said Mr. Sun, "they're bright little things, that's true."

"You speak about them, Mr. Sun, as if they were stars."
"Bright little things, indeed. How funny you are."

"Well, they are little and they are bright, aren't they?"
"Very well," said the blue sky. "Do go on with your story."

"I don't get half a chance," said Mr.
Sun, looking a little dull for a moment.

"I won't say another word," said the blue sky.
"These children said:"

"We do hope Mr. Sun will come to our out-of-door party, for it would spoil everything and all our costumes if it rained."

"And then they said:
"Oh, yes, we must have blue sky for our party."

"So you see? We must go to the party. I'm going to shine and be very bright, and you must come along so that they will not be worried about clouds or such things."

"It's such a compliment that they've asked me. We're not exactly part of the party—but you might call us party helpers, that's what we are."

"I don't know whether it's such an honour," said the blue sky. "They're just making use of us."

"Oh, don't always get so foolish ideas in your little head," said Mr. Sun.
"I like to be useful and helpful."

Just at that moment the children appeared for their out-of-door party and they were so happy as they cried out:

"Oh, see how bright the sun is!"
Mr. Sun beamed more than ever.
And then some of them said:

"Isn't it wonderful to have such a blue sky?"

The blue sky was as pleased as could be after all.

He had thought a little of letting some clouds come along for it had been slightly disconcerted earlier in the day, but now it chased away every little cloud.

So the whole big face of the blue sky was without a cloud or a frown—and as for the face of Mr. Sun—well, you know just how sunny that can be.

And the children's costumes looked so lovely and the scene was just as beautiful and gay and festive as could be.

A Trick to Try
Try to do the following trick. It sounds easy enough, but you will find it needs a lot of practice before you get it perfect. Place a piece of paper on the table, then take a pencil in each hand and try to draw a square with your right hand and a circle with your left at the same time. You will be very amused at the funny shapes you make.

Had Bee Jam
"Well, Marjorie, did you have a nice supper at grandmother's today?"
"Oh, yes, we had eggs, and bread, and butter, and—and—bee jam."

"Why do you mean you ate bee jam?"
"You know, the—how the bees make it."

Another Girl Battered
There were already two sisters for eight-year-old Bobby—have in play with and so the atmosphere of the arrival of another baby girl brought this cheerful response: "See, sister, girl up to bat!"

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

By JOHN CLARENCE PUNK

DEADLY ROMANCE

ONE afternoon recently a man drove his family into the country. It was a beautiful day, spring was at its best, and the trip was a joyful success. Around midnight the family which was spread near an old stone wall slept. Here on the back road the romance of days gone by when father had been a boy on the farm, returned to life. And the water so sparkling, and so clear!

Now for the other side of the picture. Three weeks later the parents and the two children became sick.
Three weeks later all of them had gone through serious illness, the youngest child unconsciously. The romance had been attractive but the unseen typhoid germs had got in their work. Things at the spring had been just that thing! Very well, and very logical. But many urbanites forget that at the city line the filth from the city and its inhabitants oversees cease to function. If therefore does not pay to become too enthusiastic over the old oaken bucket, the spring by the wayside and the antique pump.

Quite true, some states, but by no means all of them, annually check up on the highway water supplies on the main traveled roads for the protection of the motoring public. They check for "shale" or "transfer" of every individual source of supply that is likely to serve the passing automobile. But even in these careful jurisdictions the hydrops in all probability it will be missed. Better go thirsty therefore, if the romantic water supplies cannot present clear proof of their safety.

In this connection, a word to country dwellers. Have your individual supply checked annually by a recognized laboratory. A small money outlay will be necessary but it's nothing compared to doctor bills or funerals.
In addition obtain and study the literature published by your state department of health on this most important subject. Don't take any chances on your water supply.
No matter how good it looks or tastes.
Acting upon this advice may save lives and even death.

QUACK, QUACK
The barefaced assumption of scientific superiority by quacks should be enough to settle anyone. Add to this the studio portraits of the wizards themselves, and the last vestige of respect should be gone. But, however, the thing works just the other way.

The ability to fool their own horns is their only merit. Having failed in the ethical practice of their professions—medical or dental, if indeed they possess even these qualifications—these quackish quackery purchase space in newspapers when they can't and in this manner—barrenly deny to the world that they have failed.

Including all the "scientists" and leaders of their chosen calling. Thus they are able to effect marvelous and higher unknown cures for as low as a dollar dose. It comes to pass that hundreds of thousands of dollars annually are expended by people who still believe in fairy stories. If this was all there was to it, possibly no objection would be made. If a fellow wants to throw his money away, that's his business, and if it comes to harm health away, then the matter assumes public importance and a warning is quite justifiable.

In all fairness, quacks sometimes are people. But their main interest usually is in the money they can extract—not in the amount of health they can bestow. As a matter of fact, many instances are on record where a physical condition has been aggravated for the sole purpose of prolonging the cure.

Indeed, sometimes the outlook as stated by the particular brand of medicine has been so unpleasantly (yet unintentionally) tragic that the patient upon hearing the verdict has straightaway left the office and committed suicide.

The legitimate medical profession on the other hand, is the foundation of the nation's health. Each counting in his share of honest, working and experienced practitioners What more do you need? Can you afford lack?

If you are looking, therefore, for "value received" and health, don't make friends with the quacks.

Oh, yes, beware of quackery!

Hawk and Seagull Battle
Hundreds of passengers on a transatlantic liner recently saw a fierce battle in mid-air between a hawk and a seagull. As the birds neared the ship the hawk swooped down, but the gull dived and eluded its pursuer by "hooking." Just as swiftly the hawk soared again, and the birds continued their life-and-death race. When immediately above the liner the hawk swooped once more, and this time gripped the gull in its talons. It then settled on top of the mainmast, where it devoured its prey, scattering the gull's feathers and bones over the astounded passengers below.—Washington Star.

The Hard Shell
Justice William Harrison Black at a banquet in New York told a story about a hard-shell Baptist minister and his Methodist conferee. "I said Justice Black, 'banquet' got on very well for some years, but one day the Methodist called on the Baptist and urged that their past differences be forgotten."
"We are both Christians, after all," the Methodist minister said. "We are both doing the Lord's work, are we not?"

They shook hands, and the Baptist minister said:
"True, we are both doing His work. Let us then do it in the best of our ability, you in your way, and I in His."—Detroit Free Press.

THE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT

(With Apologies to James Whitcomb Riley.)

The Eighteenth Amendment has come to our town to stay: To clean up the booze hounds, and brush the bums away; To shoot fast drivers off our streets and make 'em safe to walk; To chase the loafers and the drunks, and all their dirty talk; An' all us other citizens, when better days have come, Won't get out around the kitchen fire, but get out an' have some fun.

A listless to the fairy tales the wets all tell about; But Hoover's got to get 'em if they don't watch out!

Once there was a 'sunkin' wet' who wouldn't mind the laws; An' when he went to plant a jug he fell into his jaws.

His jugs they heered his holler, an' the driver heered his bawl; An' when they went to hunt for him he wasn't there at all.

They seeked him in the pool rooms, an' alleys—more or less— They seeked him in the gambling dens an' ever' where I guess.

But all they ever found was his still. An' without a doubt, The Federal Agents got 'im 'cause he didn't watch out!

An' once there was a 'leggers' who'd always drink an' fight, An' make fun of decent people who try to do what's right.

An' when she was arrested, an' the officers were there, She mocked 'em an' she shocked 'em, an' said she didn't care.

An' when they took her off to jail, An' put her in a cell, She'd curse and scream, an' 'ear her hair, an' run around an' yell.

An' when they tried to quiet her she put 'em all to rout. But the Federal got her too, 'cause she didn't watch out!

The Eighteenth Amendment says we needn't do that all; An' if the ones who make it, an' cause other folks to fall, Were forced to drink it all themselves, we'd soon have cause for joy.

An' gladly plant 'em on the hill where they could not annoy, An' then some wivs an' children could have a happier life.

With better clothes, an' more to eat, An' not so much of strife. So the booze hounds better scatter, with their followers devout.

But Hoover's bound to get 'em 'cause they won't watch out. Dedicated to the Leamon W. C. T. U.—Ira Ellis.

The Care of Your Money

It is just as necessary to carefully investigate the efforts by which money can make more money, as it is to choose a home or a suit of clothes, or to watch what you're eating. But, indubitably food will soon run you down. A poorly made suit of clothes will not wear long. And so with your money. If you put your surplus funds in the wrong channels of investment, they will not last long. You must carefully investigate every investment proposition offered you or your money will wear out like a suit of shoddy clothes.

To help you choose the proper type of investment, Sirrus Brothers Investment Institute of Chicago has prepared a series of instructive articles to be published by this newspaper. If seriously read and studied, the articles will give you a financial knowledge foundation that should enable you to combat the glib salesmen of speculative and worthless securities and to direct your funds into fruitful channels that will take care of your money so that eventually it will take care of you.

With the principles of safe investment stored away in your mind, financial independence is yours for the mere effort of systematic saving.

First, figures and facts will be presented showing how billions of dollars have been lost in the past through worthless securities. Then you will be told in an interesting and easily understandable way the principles and practices of investment that, if followed, should make your investments safe and profitable.

The difference between gambling speculation and investment will be pointed out, and then you will be enlightened as to the various types of bonds; what to look for in a good bond, the making and advantages of real estate bonds, the services of a bond house, the advantages of systematic saving, and the best way to assure financial independence.

Read and study the articles carefully. Look for them each week in this paper. Clip them out. Put them in a book—and you always will have at hand a volume of useful financial information to refer to if you have any financial questions to ask. Sirrus Brothers Investment Institute, Chicago, will be glad to answer them without obligation on your part.

REMEMBER

'Way Back When ....?

When a tire that lasted even 3,500 miles was a curiosity? (You can still buy that short distance kind if you pay little enough.)

How times change! Now we're exhibiting a new type tire—Goodyear's 30th anniversary masterpiece, the DOUBLE EAGLE—that can reasonably be expected to last as long as a man usually keeps his car.

And they figure the odds at 1,000 to 1 against even a puncture, let alone blowouts!

Only Goodyear, of course, is building such a super-tire. And it's just too good to be needed by most motorists.

But it's interesting to look at—and talk about. And that's why we say "Come in and see it." No obligation, of course. It's a pleasure to show this Super-example of Goodyear endurance and beauty.

Mr. Ellis of the University Extension Division was here last Tuesday talking to the Seniors and advising them about going to school.

Jean Dunlap goes to Whitewater this Saturday and it is expected that there will be a large crowd from Mazo there to back Jean in giving her declamation.

This week starts the last six weeks of the year, and for the Seniors the last period. In M. H. S. Most of them are wishing that it was a six weeks period instead of a six weeks period.

Father (to son walking down the street with a shovel over one shoulder): Where are you going with that shovel over your shoulder son?

Son: I've got a date with two girls and I've got to dig up another fellow.

THE COLLAR SMARTNESS

Collars have come into their own this season, and are here forming the main trimming on almost every frock. This one is particularly smart with its tab-trimming, and the way it is cut very deep in front and tied in back in a tiny bow. The circular feature goes all the way round the skirt and comes up in a graceful line to meet the belt at the side. Long clinging sleeves keep the dress simple. This frock will be attractive for summer nights in a very soft flowered chiffon with a white child's collar. Also good in crepes for the street.

A bright Mazo High School Senior was walking down the street with a cudgel in his hand.
Father: What's that cudgel for son?
Senior: I just fought a Spitz dog.

Junior was the Inter-class track meet. Scores were as follows: Juniors 47; Freshmen 37; Seniors 23; Sophomores 14. Lashway, Harrigan, and Morrow proved to be the outstanding performers. Lashway stepped the century in 9.8 seconds.

Mazo opened the Tri-County League by losing to Arena 3 to 1 last Friday. Arena scored all their runs off Jones in the first frame. Morrow took the burden in the second inning and held the Arena batters scoreless. Mazo's lone score came as a result of Capt. Morrow's three-base hit and a single by Harrigan. The fielding of the Mazo team was not very exceptional, being committed by Harrigan, Turk and Tietley.

FARM PROBLEM IS OLD

Buried in the dust of centuries was found a scrap of papyrus. On investigation it turned out to be a page from an Egyptian school boy's copy-book which when translated read: "Harvest. The worm took half the food, the hippopotamus the other half. Many mice were in the field, the beasts, the cattle ate the sparrows stole. We to the farmers! The remainder, which is in the threshing floor, the thieves made an end of." This was probably written before the Christian era and indicates that the farm problem is not peculiar to the last few years. We do not have the hippopotamus, but we have the corn borer. There are not so numerous, but somebody always seems at hand to make an end of the remainder. The farm problem is part of the struggle for existence which humanity has won to the extent that no one wants to go back to Egypt's woes. We have trouble enough, but less than our ancestors; even those of a generation or two ago look on the present crop of farmers as pampered and unused to hardship—Ohio Stockman and Farmer.

Wisconsin is going to have a big crop of June bugs this year according to entomologists at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

My Sunday Nap (?)

On a Sunday, after dinner,
I delight to shed my shoes

As a lazy, loafin' sinner—

To c...y a little SNOOZE!

With my noodle all a-fuddle!

(And so full of grub, I sigh)

In the big armchair I cuddle

And tell all the folks "Good-by."

Pretty soon I start to slippin'

I am youngin' gone—and then

Both the youngsters start to yippin'

And I'm WIDE AWAKE again!

"Hey, you kids—cut out the riot!"

I exclaim in tones of ire.

"Let us have a little quiet."

Or I'll fill your seats with fire!"

They can see that I am nettled—

They're afraid I'll use the lath,

So I shortly get 'em settled,

And I soon forget my wrath

As the arms of Slumber tease me

To repose upon her lap—

But when Sleep's about to seize me

Then the Collie starts to yap!

But at last I'm snoring sweetly,

In a loud rip-snortin' snore—

When, alas, I'm roused completely

By a knock upon the door!

And I straighten up, a-cussin'!

As I madly grab my shoes.

There is SOMETHING always massin',

Sure as Fate, my Sunday snooze!

STUDENT GOES LONG WAY EACH SUNDAY TO PREACH

Yankton, S. D.—It is common enough for students of American colleges to travel 20 or 40 miles each week-end to preach to their own church. But Edwin C. Johnson, of Conde, a senior of Yankton college, believes that he holds the state record for distance traveled to and from his parish, the Congregational church at Bonesteel, S. D. Johnson travels 230 miles every time he makes the round trip.

This is his third year as a Congregational minister in this state. Last school year he was the assistant pastor of the Yankton Congregational church. During the summer he was student pastor to three churches in the Black Hills district, namely Hill City, Custer, and Deerfield. Two years ago Johnson served as the resident pastor at Wausay, this state.

He is planning on entering the Chicago Theological Seminary next September. During this three years he intends to devote quite a little time to dramatics as he believes that there is a great field for drama in the modern day church. The young minister is exceedingly active on the campus of Yankton college. He is a member of the 1929 men's dec club that will tour the Rosebud district this spring. His name is listed among the officers of the Young Men's Christian Association here. Johnson is prominent in the dramatic circles of the school, being a member of the Theta Alpha Phi. He has served as business or stage manager of several productions and has taken speaking parts in a like number. In 1928 he was the representative of the school in the state Peace Oratorical contest and is a member of Phi Kappa Delta, national honorary fraternal fraternity.

THREE FARM FIELD DAYS PLANNED FOR VISITORS

Three farm field days, instead of the usual one that has been customary in the past, will be held at the College of Agriculture of the state university this summer, according to an announcement made last week by Noble Clark, chairman of the committee in charge of the event. The first field day, June 8, will be devoted to livestock problems; the second, July 13, to grains and pasture crops; and the third, August 17, to field crops.

Visitors will receive more attention under the new plan. They will be conducted through the laboratories and experimental fields in small groups.

THE RATTLESNAKE'S AGE

According to popular belief a rattlesnake acquires a new ring on its rattle each year and hence its age can be told by the number of rings; but this notion is incorrect, biologists say. The rattlesnake adds from 2 to 4 rings a year, usually 3. Under normal conditions a ring is added each time the skin is shed. Soon after hatching the last 7 or 8 vertebrae fuse and form a composite bone called the shaker, around which the rings are formed. Terminal rings may be broken off because of wear and accidents, so that time the number of rings has no relation to the age of the snake.

Some Wisconsin poultrymen, who do not hatch and chicks themselves, still find cross-bred chicks desirable, according to poultry specialists at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. It makes it possible for them to purchase a hundred per cent pullet group of chicks for their hatchery.

To get the best results from fertilizers containing phosphorus, they cent findings of scientists at the Uni-should be worked three to four versty of Wisconsin.
